Mystery Light Sparks Search By RCAF, RCMP

Mainland Flash Seen by Many at Campbell River

CAMPBELL RIVER — RCMP and RCAF today began an investigation into reports from residents here that a vivid flash of light was seen on a mainland mountainside north of here Friday night.

Observers today placed the location of the still-unidentified light as about 3,000 feet up the side of Estero Mountain, 6,050-foot peak about 35 miles north of here, and between Phillips Arm and Bute Inlet.

Several persons who saw the light, all reliable witnesses, said it was visible between 8:45 and 9 p.m.

SEEN THROUGH GLASSES

Ted Robson, working with the North-west Telephone Company, sighted it through binoculars, but was unable to identify it.

Godfrey Baldwin, member of the Ground Observer Corps, notified RCMP, who in turn contacted John Perkins, observer on duty at the GOC observation post atop Campbell River Junior-Senior High School. Mr. Perkins was unable to make positive identification.

NO PLANES LOST

Mrs. Lloyd Leishman, chief observer of the GOC here, notified the RCAF filter centre in Vancouver, on the chance that the light might have been a distress signal. She was told, however, that no aircraft had been reported missing.

Air-Sea Rescue was notified by the filter centre, but had no report to make on the mysterious flash. A search plane was reported late today to be continuing a search in the mountainous area.

SIMPLIFIED CALENDAR FEATURED IN WEEKEND

A description of the new calendar under consideration by the UN for world-wide adoption is carried in today's edition of Weekend Magazine. Advocates of the calendar, which divides the 365-day year into equal quarters, claim it will simplify the counting of days and do away with the necessity of memorizing jingles to remember the number of days in a month.

SAIGON SEETHING

'Stay Indoors' Europeans Told

(From AP and UP)

SAIGON, Indo-China—French troops sealed off Saigon's European sector today and warned all white residents to stay indoors because of expected anti-colonial demonstrations.

French expeditionary corps commander Gen. Paul Ely ordered his 40,000 battle-tested troops, backed by 400 tanks and armored cars, to smash any attempt at anti-European violence.

The demonstrations were called for Sunday by the South Viet Nam revolutionary junta or committee. The eight-man group also was expected to call for immediate establishment of a republic.

The junta claimed the demonstration was not aimed against the French. But blaring sound trucks circulated through Saigon and the streets of adjacent Cholon calling the 2,000,000 inhabitants to assemble in the market place at 9 a.m. Sunday to mark their hatred of colonialists and their puppet Emperor Bao Dai.

The trucks bore U.S. aid badges as the gift of the American people.

265 Red Divisions Lined Against West By Warsaw Treaty

(AP and UP Dispatches)

WARSAW—The Soviet Union and her seven European satellites today established a unified military command to rival the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and made Soviet Marshal Ivan Konev their supreme commander.

Russia and the satellite countries pledged friendship and mutual aid, lining up 265 Communist divisions against the West, which will have about 60 NATO divisions when West Germany is rearmcd.

Chinese Defence Minister Peng Teh Hui, an observer at the four-day treaty conference, hailed the signing and pledged the support of his nation's 600,000,000 people in the event of a war in Europe.

Konev, who has been deputy Soviet defence minister under Marshal G. K. Zhukov, will make his supreme headquarters in Moscow.

Russia's seven allies in the Red NATO are East Germany, Bulgaria, Poland, Romania, Albania, Czechoslovakia and Hungary.

WEST GERMANY IS KEY
A preamble to the treaty declared that the eight countries decided to intensify their measures for defence in face of West Germany's admission to the Western alliance.

Immediately after the signing, East Germany's prime minister Otto Grotewohl declared that his government still stands for uniting Germany under peaceful conditions. He asserted that unification of Germany must automatically rescind any military commitment previously undertaken by either East or West Germany.

(West European diplomats believe the actual signing of the pact does not change the existing situation—the Russians have been in over-all command of the military among their satellites for some time. But the pact gives the Russians a legal framework under which Soviet troops can remain in the satellite states through individual treaties between the USSR and each satellite country. Politically the Communist countries have been linked through the Cominform—the association dominated by the Soviet Union.)

SOVIETS TRY TO WOO TITO FROM WEST?

Khrushchev Heads Belgrade Junket

BELGRADE (Reuters)—Yugoslavia has given firm assurances to the Western Allies that the surprise visit here of top Soviet leaders, announced Friday night, will not impair Yugoslav relations with the West, an authoritative source said today.

The United States, Britain, Turkey, France and Greece—three of whom give economic aid to Yugoslavia, while the other two are linked with her in the Balkan alliance—were given prior information of the announcement.

The source said Yugoslav leaders regard the meeting as a chance to test future Russian intentions much in the same way as the western powers are making preparations to meet Soviet leaders with a similar objective.

The meeting with Yugoslav President Tito, due before the end of the month, will bring Premier Nikolai Bulganin, Nikita Khrushchev, Communist party chief, and other Kremlin leaders here. It will be the first of its kind since Tito broke with Moscow in 1948 and steered his own anti-Russian but nonetheless Communist path.

$6 Million Rebuilding Plan For Ottawa's Famed West Block

BILL MCCOLL

BILL MAWHINNEY

BY VICTOR MACKIE

Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—The near-century-old west block of the Parliament Buildings where once Sir John A. MacDonald had his prime ministerial offices, is to be completely rebuilt at a cost of between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000.

Hon. Robert Winters, minister of public works, disclosed Saturday that architects are now at work on plans for dismantling the old-west block and its reconstruction in exact detail to preserve the appearance of the old structure.

REPRODUCTION

The present west block is to be reproduced "in its every smallest detail and with all the loving care and attention we are capable of giving it," he said.

The minister added that because of the historical associations of the west block, one of three blocks constituting the Parliament Buildings on Parliament Hill in Ottawa, it had been necessary to study two propositions. One proposition would involve the renovation of the buildings, the others its complete reconstruction.

The minister said there was everything to commend the complete rebuilding of the west block. He indicated that the final decision would rest with the cabinet. Meantime, senior civil service executives in the west block have been informed that the building is to be completely reconstructed.

As it stands today it is the same thick-walled, high-turreted stone pile it was when Sir John A. moved in and occupied the offices now occupied, 88 years later by Hon. James Sinclair, minister of fisheries.

When Mr. Sinclair moved in three years ago, he found a darkened old stairway at the back of the old office. The old stairway was plugged with books and files.

Cleared out, it was discovered to be a secret back exit that Sir John used to slip down to escape unnoticed when his front offices were crowded with would-be visitors.

There will be new modern offices, well lighted and properly ventilated, with all the space utilized and occupied. Today the offices are difficult to adapt to modern conditions and there is much waste space, with the lighting conditions very poor.

B.C. TITLE AT STAKE

Two 'Bills' Primed For Golfing Battle

Championship golf takes the spotlight in the city Sunday with the inaugural B.C. match play open final scheduled at Victoria Golf Club.

Meeting in the 36-hole test are Vancouver's match-play champion, Bill Mawhinney, and the Vancouver Island titlist, Bill McColl.

The event, initiated by the Times, and to be co-sponsored on alternate years by the Times and the Vancouver Daily Province, will start with the first 18-hole round at 10 a.m., and the second 18 holes at 2 p.m.

HONEYMOON

Mawhinney, a professional, and former PNGA and Canadian Amateur champion, arrived in town early today following a week's honeymoon in the United States.

He had a practice round scheduled at Victoria Club this afternoon.

Although admitting that he hasn't played for a few days, he expressed the thought that his game "showed promise" in the Vancouver tournament which he won by defeating B.C. amateur champion Lyle Crawford in the finals, 4 and 3, two weeks ago.

Later this month he plans to enter a qualifying test for a place in the United States open championships scheduled for San Francisco Olympic Club in June.

TEAMMATES

Mawhinney and McColl were teammates on the 1949 British Columbia Willingdon Cup team, but have never met in competition.

Some odds-makers have made Mawhinney a favorite—in Vancouver he's a 2-1—but Victoria Club professional Phil Taylor stated today that, as far as he's concerned, it's even money and take your pick, especially as McColl is playing over a course he knows better than Mawhinney does.

Neither finalist was prepared to predict a triumph; rather both expressed the hope that they could be "as fortunate" as they have been in reaching the final.

Prize presentation will take place immediately following the match.

Soviet Agrees to Austria Peace, Risks Red Rollback in Europe

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Associated Press News Analyst
By signing an Austrian treaty of independence, the Soviet Union is taking a calculated risk. It could backfire to start a Russian rollback in Europe. This is the opinion of competent European sources close to the situation in the heart of the divided continent.

The effect upon satellite Communist countries in middle Europe is going to be profound, these sources report. Czechoslovakia and Hungary, both under Communist—and Soviet—rule, have long borders with Austria.

Austria becomes free for the first time since Hitler's Anschluss annexed the country in 1938. No Austrian under 30 can have much memory of what national independence means. The country becomes, in the middle of Europe, a symbol of hope that foreign domination is not a permanent thing.

More than that, however, Austria shows the rest of Europe that it is possible to get rid of the Russians. There have been few such instances in the past, and in those instances the Russians move was forced. That happened in northern Iran in 1946, when the Russians withdrew rather than risk a dangerous flareup.

The morale of the resistance to Communism in satellite Europe is bound to rise. Withdrawal of Soviet troops may increase the contacts people in Czechoslovakia and Hungary have with the free world. It will take at least triple the manpower and safeguards for the Russians and Communists of those two countries to seal off their long borders with Austria and the free world.

Whether he goes or not, Thomas has promised to appear at the Shrine Bazaar at the Curling Rink from 7 to 8 o'clock tonight.

IN PARLIAMENT

Lesage Reveals Plans For Huge Development Of Minerals In North

(From CP and BUP Dispatches)

An outline of plans for developing a vast new mineral deposit in the far north have been given the Commons.

Northern Affairs Minister Lesage said Friday a rail line is planned to tap one of the world's largest lead-zinc ore deposits, at Pine Point on the south shore of Great Slave Lake.

The Northwest Territories are 300 to 400 miles north of the end of steel at Grimshaw in Alberta's Peace River district and Mr. Lesage said he hopes the government and Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. can make arrangements to develop it.

Plans were to build the railway "in days not too far off" to get the ore out.

"We have been discussing and still are discussing the economic implications of such a project," he said.

Boost Population for Defence

Opposition leader Drew, speaking of northern development, urged a campaign to increase northern population as a defence measure with new communities spotted across the area and airports built south of radar bases to handle any paratroop invasion.

He said he was amazed at Mr. Lesage's statement that there must be jobs in the north before settlers will move in.

Salmon Fishing To Be Protected

Mr. Lesage also spoke of plans to divert waters of the Columbia River in British Columbia into the Fraser River for power purposes. He said that before it can be done Canada must reach agreement with the United States on division of power benefits.

Mr. Lesage was replying to questions from George Hahn (SC-New Westminster) and Howard Green (PC-Vancouver Quadra).

Mr. Hahn read a newspaper report quoting Senator Tom Reid (L-British Columbia), chairman of the International Pacific Salmon Fisheries Commission, as saying the diversion might destroy the Fraser's salmon fishery. In view of this, Mr. Hahn said, he feels the money for the survey is not justified.

Mr. Lesage also announced the joint board on the Fraser River basin is being reconstituted under a new agreement between the Federal and British Columbia governments.

He said he could divulge no details until British Columbia Lands Minister Sommers arranges a joint announcement. The board carries out engineering studies and surveys of Fraser River development proposals.

Salmon fisheries' interests would be "fully and entirely protected" in river developments.

Foreign textiles costing $252,343 were purchased outside Canada by the federal government in 1953 and 1954, Production Minister Howe reported Friday.

In a reply tabled for Colin Cameron (CCF-Nanaimo) he said some were bought for use abroad by the Canadian armed forces, mostly to furnish service quarters in France.

All of the textiles purchased for use in Canada were special-purpose fabrics not made in this country, he said.

A government official said Friday introduction of the five-day work week is one of the main reasons for the increase in the ranks of the federal civil service to its present record total of 174,000 employees.

J. J. Deutsch, secretary of the treasury board, told the Senate's special committee on finances that the 38-hour, five-day week in the government service alone had probably been responsible for staff increases running into "the thousands."

He promised to get the committee the figures of increase due to the reduction from the former 5½-day week.

Mr. Deutsch was replying to questions by Senator J. J. Connolly (L-Ontario) who noted government employees had increased to 174,800 at February this year from 165,473 a year earlier.

There had been substantial increases in employment of civilians in the armed forces, revenue, northern affairs and post office departments.

Casey Expects Answer Monday On Tax Protest

Final Bid Made To Government

Reeve Joseph Casey expects word from the provincial cabinet by Monday night which will determine whether taxpayers in urban Saanich pay the full amount of a 17-per-cent tax boost.

Reeve Casey and members of Saanich Council met the provincial cabinet Friday in a final bid to obtain tax relief from the government.

Deadline for striking the municipality's final 1955 mill rate is Monday, and the reeve said he expects an answer "one way or the other" before the council sits.

$158,000 LESS
The Saanich brief protested the new municipal aid grant system, a factor in the new education finance formula, and claimed the formula gave Saanich $158,000 less this year than in 1954.

Reeve Casey said Saanich was singled out "as the villain of the play." He said Saanich's assessments were "far too low" compared to Victoria and Esquimalt but not when compared to Oak Bay.

Reeve Casey said the reason Oak Bay did not suffer as much as Saanich did is the "unrealistic" method of computing per capita grants.

He said the sliding grant scale does not take the area of a municipality into consideration.

CHEAPER
The brief said small compact municipalities are cheaper to administer than large sprawling ones. He said Saanich, with a population of 28,481, an area of 25,430 acres, receives an average per capita grant of $7.46.

Victoria, he said, has a population of 51,331, covers an area of 4,641 acres, and receives a per capita grant averaging $6.75. Esquimalt's average per capita grant is $10.09, and Oak Bay's $9.47.

The Saanich brief urged revision of the municipal aid grant system "with a view to a more equitable method of distribution."

It also protested the system of "lumping all the component parts of a school district into one unit, with each part paying its share according to its assessment, while in the determination of aid grants, the formula changes to a basis of population."

Construction Firm Workers Certified

Certification of employees of Baynes and Manning Ltd., Vancouver construction firm operating on Vancouver Island, has been granted by the department of labor.

Earl Allen, business agent of local 1093 International Building and General Laborer's Union, said he expects an agreement to be signed between the firm and workers in the near future.

Men presently employed include 15 workers at the new Junior High School in Nanaimo and on a new waterline to Chemainus.

Classifications are: rock foreman, powdermen, wagon drivers, jack hammer men, mixer men, laborers on building construction, vibrator men, flaggers, spotters and tarmen on Island pipeline and road construction.

B.C. Tories Hit Ouster Of Leader

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Progressive Conservative Association in a statement issued Friday night described as "ill-advised and unconstitutional" the recent ouster of their provincial leader from a meeting of the national executive of the party.

The statement also attacked the B.C. federal council set up by the national party to handle the party's federal affairs in the province.

"The national officers' action of last Saturday in evicting the provincial leader because he presented B.C.'s case, in effect means that some of the national officers are prepared to discard the elected B.C. Progressive Conservative Association and to replace it with the appointed B.C. federal council," the statement said.

"This is a group not provided for in the constitution."

Dr. Mar Chairman Of Chemical Body

Dr. Peter G. Mar, St. Joseph's Hospital bio-chemist, Friday was elected chairman of the Vancouver Island branch of the Chemical Institute of Canada.

Named secretary was C. H. McBratney, and public relations officer R. H. B. Sewell.

Dr. Mar, who specializes in cancer research, is a native of Victoria who returned here five years ago after 25 years in China.

'Scar-Face' Recaptured But No One Wants Him

WINNIPEG (CP) — Health Minister Robert Bend of Manitoba says he is awaiting a psychiatric report on convict Alexander Zakopiac before deciding what should be done with him. Zakopiac, 36-year-old scar-faced prisoner who escaped from the Selkirk mental hospital Thursday, was recaptured at gunpoint Friday but both the hospital and the Stony Mountain penitentiary have refused to take him into custody.

"The RCMP have been in touch with me and they have agreed to keep Zakopiac over the week-end," Mr. Bend said Friday.

Zakopiac was apprehended by a lone constable on Redwood bridge in the Elmwood district of northeast Winnipeg.

Knowles Would Bar Minister Directorships

Dempsey Case Repercussions

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA — A move to make it illegal for federal ministers of the Crown to hold directorships in any company has been initiated by Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre).

The action by the opposition member follows criticism voiced in the Commons this week over the fact that Dr. J. J. McCann, minister of national revenue, holds a directorship in the Guaranty Trust Company of Canada.

Mr. Knowles gave notice today of his intention to introduce a bill to amend Section 14 of the Senate and House of Commons Act. Under his amendment a new subsection would be added which would provide that no director of Canadian companies shall be eligible to take office as a minister of the Crown.

It would come into force, if enacted, on July 1, 1955, thereby giving Dr. McCann ample time to resign his directorship in the trust company.

In the Commons Thursday, Prime Minister L. S. St. Laurent was questioned by opposition members regarding the practice of members of the cabinet holding directorships.

"I do not think for the convenience of any others," Mr. St. Laurent said. "I respect their concern for their responsibilities and reputations when they become members of the government. Each one has to make his own appraisal of what is advisable for him to do in order to have his position as honorably regarded as possible."

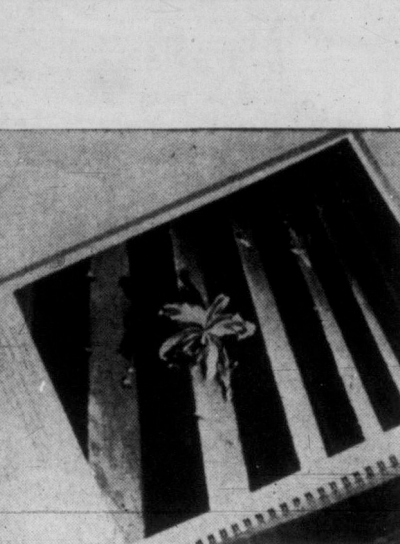

Eighteen-year-old city youth, Jerry Chow, 501 Crompton, remanded to Wednesday for sentence when he appeared in city police court Friday charged with breaking and entering and theft from Joe's Confectionery, 545 Fisdard.

He pleaded guilty to the charge earlier.

Guest of honor at informal reception held at home of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Leith, 3421 Bonair Place, Friday, was controversial White Russian artist Vladimir Tretchkoff, whose exotic paintings will go on display at Eaton's Tuesday. Company has sponsored showings across Canada. Mr. Leith is assistant store manager here. Ten-day show of 36 paintings opens at 10.30 a.m. Tuesday and runs through to store closing daily. Tretchkoff will be present at show to answer questions on his unusual art form which has drawn attention on three continents.

A GOOD REX ALWAYS OBEYS HIS REGINA

WINDSOR, Eng. (AP)—Rex is an English sheepdog who doesn't like rain, but will obey a royal command.

Rex was taking part in the dog parade at the Royal Horse show here Friday. It began to pour and Rex scuttled into the royal enclosure where Queen Elizabeth was seated.

His master called him back. Kennel boys whistled. But Rex remained at the Queen's feet. "Rex," said the Queen, "go back to the pack."

Rex went back.

South Africans Buck Anti-Black Vote Law

Nationalist Opponents Organize Protests On Law Killing Mixed-Bloods' Franchise

CAPETOWN (Reuters)—Protest meetings were being organized Friday against the South African government's new move to reduce the voting rights of mixed-blood (colored) voters.

At the same time, Finance Minister Eric Louw assailed Adial Stevenson, U.S. Democratic party leader, for his criticism of the government's entire racial segregation program. Stevenson expressed the hope in Johannesburg last Sunday that South Africans will "take heed lest fear lead them along the wrong path" in their treatment of the non-white population.

Speaking at Williston in Cape province Friday night, Louw retorted: "Such interference in our affairs by a distinguished visitor after a stay of only one week in Johannesburg makes a very unfortunate impression."

He said Stevenson had heard only one side of the country's political problems which "certainly does not qualify him" to air views on the government's program.

The new bill of Premier Johannes Strijdom aimed at removing mixed-blood voters from the white electoral roll will be debated in the lower house May 23, it was announced Friday.

Meantime, the opposition was reported organizing a country-wide campaign against the bill. The bill proposes to increase the Senate from 48 to 89 members. This would ensure the government the two-thirds majority of both House of Parliament required by the constitution to alter voting rights of the mixed-blood voters.

Vienna Parley To Plan Talks Of Top Leaders

MacMillan, Dulles, Molotov Sign Austrian Treaty Sunday

VIENNA, Austria (UP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov has brought to the Vienna foreign ministers' meeting Premier Nikolai Bulganin's "acceptance in principle" of a summer parley with western heads of state, informed sources said today.

Molotov flew from Warsaw to sign an Austrian state treaty with the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and Austria, and discuss the proposed top-level meeting. High diplomatic sources said Molotov probably would tender Bulganin's "acceptance in principle" to meet President Eisenhower, Britain's Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden and French Premier Edgar Faure. Molotov is willing to discuss the time and place for such a meeting, the sources added.

The Soviet leader probably will not blind Russia formally to such details, however, since the Kremlin still has not replied officially to western invitations of last Tuesday in which the top-level meeting was broached, the sources said.

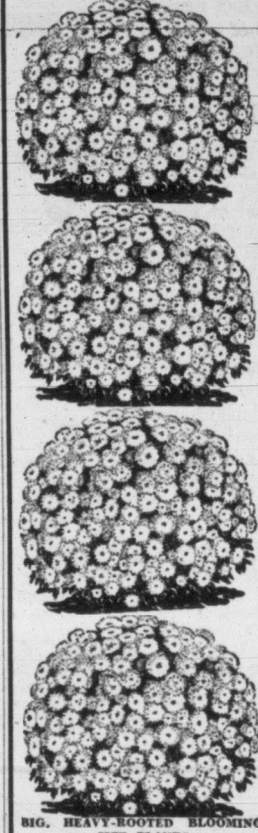

The Big Four foreign ministers were to finalize the Austrian treaty for signing tomorrow, and then confer over dinner about the "summit" project. The west was said to believe Molotov might announce some major shift in Soviet policy in keeping with Moscow's new "soft line" that followed ratification of the Paris treaties to rearm West Germany. But there was no official inkling what it might be.

POSSIBLE CLUE One possible clue came from Moscow. A United Press dispatch said foreign observers expected Moscow to propose a "rapid and conclusive offer" to reunify Germany in exchange for ironclad guarantees of neutrality as provided in the Austrian treaty.

This would tie in nicely with the East European Communist military alliance under a unified command being written today in Warsaw. This would take a least from the west since the eastern bloc now could "negotiate from strength."

It was recalled that Molotov proposed a system of European collective security at the Berlin Big Four meeting and it was considered possible he would revive the offer. The Soviet Communist paper Pravda already

New Violence in Singapore; Symonds Warned, Police Say

SINGAPORE (AP)—The death toll in the Singapore bus workers' riot rose to four today when a Chinese detective died of injuries suffered in a clash Thursday.

Hooligans, in sympathy with the strikers, Friday night set fire to two cars belonging to RAF officers outside a night-spot.

Twenty-seven more labor unions today indicated that they will join about 30 unions now on strike. The walkout originally began over the dismissal of several workers by one bus company.

Meanwhile, police today said United Press correspondent Gene Symonds, who died at the hands of a mob of strikers, had been warned against going into the troubled area.

Police commissioner Nigel Morris said allegations that police radio cars stood by while the American reporter was beaten into unconsciousness "are not correct."

Morris said Symonds' taxi was stopped at two police road-blocks, and each time was warned against going past.

The allegations against the police were made in New York Friday by Frank H. Bartholomew, president of United Press.

NICARAGUA PREPARING TO INVADE HONDURAS?

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UP)—The Honduran government has rushed warplanes and troop reinforcements to the border in a move to forestall any possible invasion attempt by Nicaragua, it was reported today.

The action followed reports of alleged frontier violations by Nicaraguan National Guardsmen.

1956 Drama Festival Awarded Sherbrooke

REGINA (CP)—David Onley of Toronto Friday was elected president of the Dominion Drama Festival, succeeding Mr. Justice D. A. McNiven of Regina.

Mr. Onley had been a vice-president since 1952. Vice-presidents are Mrs. D. W. McGibbon, Toronto; F. N. Phelps, London, Ont., and Lt.-Col. Yves Bourassa, Outremont, Que.

The festival next year will be held in Sherbrooke, Que. Edmonton will be the site in 1957. George Sylvestre and Senator Charles B. Howard of Sherbrooke were named final festival chairmen for 1956.

The audience shared criticism with the cast Tuesday night at the Dominion Drama Festival here.

The play was Arthur Miller's "All My Sons," produced by the Kitchener-Waterloo Little Theatre.

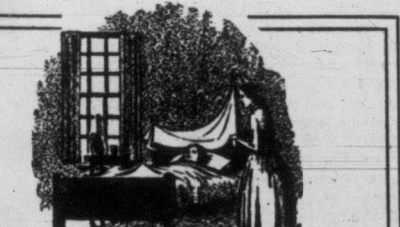

Before assessing it, adjudicator Gerda Wrede said the presentation of a play is like a courtship—both needed two entities.

"This group gave a very fine performance and there was a lovely stage setting, but the performance was marred by cooing in the audience," Mrs. Wrede said.

The play was the sixth of eight to be presented. The festival concludes tonight after a matinee and evening performance.

Le Jeune Scene Group of Montreal will present "Chambres a Louer," by the Canadian author Marcel Duke, in the afternoon. Calgary Workshop 14 Associated will end the festival with George Bernard Shaw's "The Apple Cart."

No Planned Assassination Of Rookie Cop

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police Chief Walter Mulligan said Friday he is satisfied the drug world here was not carrying out a planned assassination attempt on rookie Constable Joseph Haywood last month.

Constable Haywood, key figure in the drug trial of William Semken, told his superiors shots were fired at him as he walked his residential beat.

Haywood's testimony helped send "Silent Bill" Semken to the penitentiary for 10 years on charges of trafficking in drugs.

Asked by police commissioner Magistrate Oscar Orr if the shots were "a planned assassination of Haywood," Chief Mulligan replied:

"We are satisfied it was not. We have a very good idea about it and the boys are still working on it."

He declined further comment.

Duffy on the Death Penalty

THE FORMAL REPORT OF THE joint parliamentary committee on capital and corporal punishment will not be filed for some weeks yet—too late, it is understood, for legislative action this year.

At the moment indications are that it will recommend the abolition of hanging but not elimination of the death sentence. This may mean that gas chamber execution will be favored.

Whatever the decision, the committee will have reached it after hearing widely conflicting testimony. Some police officials have urged the retention of the death penalty because they feel that if it were removed more criminals would resort to the gun.

That opinion is in direct opposition to the view of Clinton B. Duffy, for almost a quarter century an official and eventually warden of San Quentin penitentiary.

From inquiries he made on Death Row, Mr. Duffy is convinced that the risk of capital punishment did not influence any of the prisoners with whom he talked.

"I do not favor capital punishment because I do not believe it is a deterrent to crime," he says.

It might be pointed out that while no prisoner he interviewed had thought of the death penalty before committing a crime, the threat of the death sentence could have deterred others who did not arrive on Death Row or were not charged with homicide.

There is, however, another significant question to be considered. Does the death penalty in fact increase or decrease the exercise of justice in the courts?

Prisoners facing capital charges appear before a jury of citizens in this country. Those citizens usually are informed on the principle that it is better to let ten guilty persons go free than convict one who is innocent. Since execution of the death penalty puts the individual against whom it is passed irrevocably beyond further appeal, even if later developments raise reasonable doubt about his guilt, how does the jury react?

Recognizing the awful consequences of a guilty verdict, are members of the jury expected to overcome their human repugnance against the taking of life? The phrase "reasonable doubt" has broad ramifications.

The Fact Is Given a Name

COMPLETION OF A MUTUAL security alliance by Russia and its satellite neighbors gives formal recognition to a defensive arrangement that has long been in effect. The new treaty, modeled on the West's NATO agreements, places the eight nations' military forces under unified command.

But there has never been any doubt that if the threat of war demanded it, the forces of Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, Bulgaria, Rumania, Albania and East Germany would automatically have come under close Soviet direction. The mutual economic aid and cultural exchanges included in the agreements likewise have been in effect ever since Russia extended its empire into eastern Europe. The formal pact therefore introduces nothing essentially new into the European situation.

Coupled with announcement of the communist agreement is a Russian offer to open the group to any other European country that wishes to join. It is highly unlikely that any nation not already dominated by the Soviet would take advantage of such an invitation. But the proposal is in line with the further Soviet statement that the pact will be automatically dissolved if any security system embracing all European countries can be devised.

On the face of it that might appear to be a generous offer, and a direct invitation to the NATO nations to engage in some joint effort with the East. The catch is that if NATO were dissolved in favor of some all-European arrangement, the defensive structure that has been painstakingly erected by the separate sovereign powers against the threat of communist aggression would be dissipated. But there would be no corresponding weakening of the communist defensive group, since by the nature of Soviet domination its unity would be preserved without a pact.

The West would therefore have imperiled its defenses, the East would have retained them. A much greater measure of international trust and disarmament will have to be achieved before the Russian bear will find Western fauna ready to lie down with it.

A Boy Going to School

BRITAIN'S PRESS DOUBTLESS reflected the sentiments of the Commonwealth as a whole when it cheered the announcement that Prince Charles will go to school rather than be tutored in private.

The decision to have him mingle with other boys of his age will provide a type of training unavailable to the young person who lives a cloistered life, enjoys continuous privilege and is not subjected to the demoralizing processes small boys enforce.

It is to be expected that the heir apparent will be given the consideration sought by his parents—freedom from undue publicity in all that he does.

During the next few years the very young man who some day is expected to ascend the throne will be undergoing development invaluable to him and to the later tasks he will assume. He has a right to be a boy now and from the exercise of that right he will have the opportunity to develop into the type of man that the Commonwealth respects beyond the limits of formal loyalty.

May his school days be as happy as those of the great majority of young students.

It Should Be Opened Up by Someone Else

From The New York Times

IT is along about now that the cottage by the lake must be visited for the first time this year. There is a compulsion about it. During the summer the cottage gives such pleasure that to dream of it brings the season closer by a degree, therefore to visit it would draw summer right next door.

This is, of course, a mistake. The cottage should not be seen until vacation starts, and definitely it should be opened up by someone else. The cottage should first be seen each year when all the beds are made, when all the shelves are stocked with splendid foods, when the sun shines warm by day and the stars are bright by night.

The cottage should continue to be a castle. It never should be allowed to appear as it does at this time of year, a weebeign shack filled with cobwebs and the cold dampness of winter.

THE HARD WAY

Why does not all that cold get out the way it got in, through cracks? It does not, and so to see the cottage now is to learn disillusionment the hard way, and at firsthand.

The disillusionment sets in along the lane from the main road. In the summer this is cool and shady from the trees overhead, and the firm base of the lane is surfaced with pine needles, for smoother riding and more comfortable barefoot walking. During the winter, something has happened.

The lane is cool and shady still, both to an accentuated degree, but the smoothness is no more. Gullies have been dug at random, by rain water trying, no doubt, to get down into the house. Spring-breaking boulders are piled haphazardly at the edge of the gullies, and fallen limbs criss-cross the lane like railroad ties. The only thing that can be said favorably about these limbs is that some day they will make firewood—after being cut up.

GROWING HEAVIER

There is no time to do that now, however, and no way to move the biggest of the limbs so that the car can get through. The last eighth mile to the cottage is traveled on foot. The luggage and bundles grow heavy.

It is clear at once that the cottage, like the lane, has not fully survived the winter.

Last autumn boards were nailed across the windows, but winds have torn some of them loose, leaving others, half anchored, to break the glass. Something, probably the searching waters from the lane, have loosened the foundation at one side of the porch, while great chunks seemed chewed from the other.

When the door to the cottage finally is opened, the lock naturally having rusted, a wave of freezing air tumbles out, in a manner almost human. In the gloom within, it can be seen that squirrels have wintered there, have had vast banquets there, inviting all the squirrels around, and those from neighboring states.

As Our Readers See It

ORIGINS

"How did the universe originate? How did life?" asks Mrs. Colclough abashing the atheist, as she supposes.

Exercising common intelligence sufficiently to presume that the lady has a "Creator" up her sleeve, the atheist with logical analysis must then ask Mrs. Colclough—How did the Creator originate?

Theistic conjecture would minister greatly to natural science if it were able to present rational explanations in answer to Mrs. Colclough's questions, before taking up the further rational query put up by the atheist—Who created the Creator? But then, are theistic religious answers ever rational answers?

CANDID.

WIDER PLEASE

In your report of Dr. Amyot's speech to the dental conference held in Vancouver, he reports that 85 to 95 per cent of B.C. children have bad teeth. This is probably true, but he remarks that we have a shortage of 6,000 dentists, and it is astounding that this problem exists.

I do not think we have a shortage or a problem outside of the fact the public cannot afford to pay to get the remedy and the dentists cannot afford to work full time (40 hours a week), the income tax takes too great a toll.

The plastics for a full set of teeth cost about $4, dental mechanic for manufacture gets less than $30, price from dentist to public $160.

The bakers, wire and rope manufacturers and paper distributors never had a better combine. The dental association sets the price. They are opposed to state health insurance, but are surely forcing the government of the people into it.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

FAITH AND CO-EXISTENCE

In your issue of Saturday, April 30, Mr. S. J. Smith takes issue with both Dr. Marian Sherman and Dr. Brock Chisholm because of their advocacy of a religion or pattern of life based solely on human need, human ideology, human brotherhood and total lack of any idea of God.

In his letter Mr. Smith asks if, because of the times in which we live the accumulated knowledge experience and faith of past generations have become null and void, and adds we need the benefits of a strong faith, and a sterling Christian character, to meet the challenge of today. But did not those generations of the past have exactly that strong faith, that Christian character, and that knowledge and experience which has landed us in the present-day chaos?

MR. GEORGE REPLIES

I am writing to reply to an editorial of yours printed in the Daily Times on May 10 regarding the planned and premeditated action of the Conservative National Executive in regard to Mr. Dean Finlayson, the Conservative leader in British Columbia.

First, in your editorial you use the words "Mr. Finlayson and his adherents." I would like to state publicly that I am an adherent not only of Mr. Finlayson personally but also of the truth and integrity for which he and the British Columbia Conservative Association stand.

Second, you state that Mr. Finlayson went to Ottawa with no bargaining power, no strength with which to enforce his views. It is about time, Mr. Editor, that the truth in Canada be accepted for itself, not disregarded because it is not accompanied by bargaining power and strength.

Third, you mention the political obsequies being held for Mr. Finlayson and his adherents. Your solicitude in this matter will no doubt be generally appreciated. However, human nature being what it is, the picture of one of our most prominent Liberals publicly expressing concern regarding the fate of a Conservative provincial leader will be viewed with some suspicion by many of your readers. There may even be some people, Mr. Editor, who are unkind enough to think that this situation does not displease you.

Finally, Mr. Editor, in order that your mind may be set at rest on the future actions of Mr. Finlayson and his adherents, may I say this: we have only started to fight and we will never, never give up.

J. A. A. GEORGE.

330 Yarrow Building.

(Editor's Note—The Times takes no pleasure from the position in which the Conservative Party finds itself in B.C.)

They have not been tidy eaters. Not content with merely taking the nut from the acorn, they have chewed the shell in order to scatter it more widely.

It would be good indeed if all that wood along the lane were sawed to fire-place length. It even would be good had anyone remembered that the last of last summer's wood was used on a cool evening around Labor Day.

Children sent out for firewood are apt to come back with twigs, and it will take more than twigs to heat up even fractionally the inside of that cottage. It is odd, too, how the sun goes down about now, and how a dank mist drifts up from the lake as though pulled on a string.

SEARCH FOR SURVIVAL

In a panic and with an unsharpened hatchet, everyone rushes out to join the children in a search for wood, which by now is a search for survival.

If the living room can be heated, all will be well. Everyone can sleep on the floor there, with a guard—guess whom—left awake to attend to the fire.

The "if" spells one thing only, the porcupine-gnawed and rain-loosened porch. That will be easy to knock apart and bring indoors and besides, it never was nearly big enough.

Everyone needs a project for summer. A new porch can be set down as the project for July. This project can be started now, by clearing, as it were, the decks. Can be? It must be started now.

The Royal Island

CAPE BRETON, N.S.—Victoria, as I hear in letters from home, has suffered a disappointing spring. But the natives of our island really don't know anything about violent spring weather. On Cape Breton, the eastern counterpart of Vancouver Island, it was snowing on the seventh day of May as we crossed on the ferry from the mainland of Nova Scotia and the Atlantic wind cut a soft Vancouver Islander to the bone.

The natives hereabouts seemed to consider this weather nothing unusual. May is hardly a spring month, and the tourist resorts seldom open until June. Driving up the Island, I found my car almost blown off the road and the huge lake of Bras d'Or was churned into breakers like the sea a few miles away.

THE French who first occupied this land called it Isle Royale and for centuries it was the strategic centre of the struggle for America. Whoever held Cape Breton, it was thought, dominated the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the gateway to the continent.

So the French founded Louisbourg to hold the island, after they had lost Nova Scotia, and constructed the strongest fortress of the New World, only to see it fall first to a fish merchant from Boston and then to Amherst and Wolfe. The fall of Louisbourg sealed the fate of Quebec and made Canada a British nation.

It is not of these things that Cape Breton is thinking today. It is thinking of coal. Once the rich coal seams at the north of the island were discovered Cape Breton became one of Canada's major industrial areas. After you have driven across the empty island, past a few lonely homesteads and fishing villages, you suddenly find some eighty thousand people living around Sydney, its coal mines and its gigantic steel mill.

Out west we think of Cape Breton as a picturesque land inhabited by Scotsmen in kilts and chiefly concerned with their annual Highland games and the memories of the lone shieling and the misty mountains of Scotland. It is surprising, therefore, to find oneself on this misty May morning in a great modern hotel beside Sydney harbor, where the ore boats are coming in, loaded with iron from Newfoundland, to serve one of our primary Canadian industries.

CAPE BRETON and the whole Maritime littoral are worried about their industry today, for coal is a waning commodity in America. You may have seen an item in the Victoria press announcing that some obscure coal mine is to be closed near Sydney. That news will hardly excite a British Columbia which has everything to make it rich. The threat to a mine in Nova Scotia is terrible news, equivalent to an announcement, for example, that the Macmillan empire was folding.

Hence the premier of Nova Scotia flies suddenly to London to drum up markets for Cape Breton coal in Britain (coal to Newcastle in the most literal sense), hurried conferences are held in Ottawa and Halifax, the local papers run big headlines and every man in Sydney, a city of some thirty-five thousand people, is alarmed about the future.

AMONG the people of this shore British Columbia and its wealth are a legend and a mirage. The kids by the road shout and point when they see a B.C. number plate on my car, as if I had come at least from Mars. Every businessman wants to know how British Columbia manages its fabulous boom, the glories of which are always exaggerated by distance.

Yet as we prepare to cross the Gulf of St. Lawrence to Newfoundland I am dimly aware, as a hurried traveler, that Nova Scotia has many things that we lack, among them a certain Scottish stability in public and private life, a grim will to endure in a poor land, a love of knowledge and religion, a pride of history and a sense of proportion.

IF British Columbia had suffered the poverty and often the tragedy of this land it would have erupted long since into political confusion and wild doctrines. Indeed, it erupted into Social Credit in the midst of prosperity. Here even the CCF's mild socialism has never gained a real foothold and in Cape Breton the unionized miners, I am told, gave only 500 votes to a communist candidate in the last election.

These people are skeptical of easy solutions and deaf to miracles. No one can foresee the place of the Maritimes in the economic revolution now sweeping Canada but here they seem to think that the future will depend on the people themselves, for in truth the basic resource of this region is the people and nothing else.

At all events, the whole country is astir, now that the coal industry is threatened. The coal unions are not seeking higher wages but higher productivity to keep the mines open. Some seventy-five businessmen of Sydney and the surrounding towns contributed $2,000 apiece in one day and raised a fund of $150,000 to assist new industries. These people are working together, under the whip of adversity, as I doubt we have ever worked in British Columbia where, in a rich land, things come easy.

WHILE ORCHESTRAS PLAY IN VIENNA

By B. A. TOBIN

Freedom and Neutrality Mark the New Era

AT ten o'clock Sunday morning every orchestra in Vienna, by the order of Mayor Franz Jonas, will strike up the Austrian national anthem. Simultaneously throughout the country seven million laughter-loving Austrians will celebrate their newly-restored freedom. For at that hour tomorrow the Big Four—Britain, France, the United States and Russia—will sign the treaty that ends the Second World War for Austria.

Independence is a right not too well known to many of the people of this central European nation. Created by the peace settlement of the First World War, Austria then spent seven years under League of Nations supervision. Later came seven years under the domination of Hitler's Germany, and for the past ten years the Austrians have lived with the occupation troops of the Big Four in their midst.

All the more welcome, then, will be the era that starts tomorrow. It opens with rejoicing and the enthusiasm of people to whom freedom has long been a distant goal. But it carries with it responsibilities and the prospect of immediate economic difficulties that may force further austerity on a land that has never been overly prosperous.

Relative Prosperity

A pressing problem will be the development of export markets, for much of Austria's relative prosperity today—as compared with conditions in the thirties before the Anschluss with Germany—is due to the jobs and foreign currency introduced by the Western occupation forces. Austrian economic problems will be of no small dimensions.

But for Russian intransigence, the treaty might well have been signed ten years ago. The terms as agreed upon this week are substantially the same as originally proposed. Indeed, in an inexplicable haste to conclude the agreement, the Soviet offered more generous terms than Austria had expected.

Although there were last-minute objections and demands by the representative from Moscow, an American threat to postpone the settlement quickly resolved the differences.

Austria thus emerges as a nation sworn to neutrality in its international relations, denied any union with Germany, and loaded with a heavy reparations debt to Russia. But it will have full autonomy within the limits mentioned, the right to rearm, and above all complete political freedom.

CHANCELLOR JULIUS RAAB

It is early yet to perceive the whole explanation for the Soviet about-face. Russia has gained a neutral buffer state between its satellites and the West, it is true. But in complying with the provision that will take the Red Army out of Austria within the next few months, it will be necessary also to withdraw the Soviet troops stationed in Hungary and Rumania. These forces had been maintained on the grounds that they were

REALITIES

The gift of sight is so precious that we can hardly conceive the misery of losing it. Yet those who have lost it have shown themselves a cheerful and courageous group of human beings.

As Adam Lindsay Gordon, the Australian poet has said:
"Life is mostly froth and bubble;
Two things stand like stone:
Kindness in another's trouble,
Courage in our own."

needed to "guard the route" between Russia and the occupation troops in Austria.

This retraction of the Red Army within the borders of Russia could have important future effects in the satellite countries, although the Soviet NATO-type military alliance now coming into effect in eastern Europe may be expected to take up any slack in Moscow's security arrangements.

It would appear that conclusion of the West German peace treaty and inclusion of that country in Western European Union and the NATO defensive circle had spurred the Russian desire to seek an Austrian settlement.

New Approach

For years Moscow has insisted that reunification of Germany must precede conclusion of the Austrian treaty. The Bonn Republic's alignment with the West apparently cancelled that requirement. At the same time the cardinal feature of Austria's new freedom—that the country must remain neutral—offers a hint of future Soviet moves.

Western observers believe that the Kremlin may be preparing a similar proposal for Germany: that in return for an undertaking to form a neutral block in central Europe, Russia would agree to reunification of East and West Germany. When it is recalled that reunification is the priority goal of every German, East or West, the attraction of such a proposition is obvious.

Equally obvious is the effect such a development would have on Western defence plans, for West Germany's contribution of twelve divisions to NATO has long been held a necessity if western Europe is to be adequately defended.

A still wider viewpoint sees Russia as striving to achieve a solid system of satellites and buffer states in Europe in preparation for further upsets in the Far East, or perhaps as a basis on which to enter the top level talks now in prospect.

These are conjectures in which most Austrians will have little interest at the moment. Whatever the reasons that prompted the latest Soviet move, the people of the Blue Danube are waiting today. Later they will shoulder the burden of freedom's cost.

Afternoon at the Ballet

LONDON—Sadler's Wells... now there's a magic name. Daughter Robin, who is seven, had heard about it so I thought it might be a good idea to take her along. She is at that stage at which little girls get fascinated by dancing.

Reyburn

When ever she is taken to a movie musical she spends the rest of the afternoon and evening until bedtime trying to emulate the dance steps she has seen on the screen. I felt she was ready to see her first ballet.

The Sadler's Wells Theatre is in the northeast part of London called Islington. Not a very salubrious district... terraces of slummy houses, grubby shops and here and there big new blocks of council flats which are tokens of the effort to clean up such areas.

Nothing wrong with the theatre itself, though. It is more modern than a lot of those in the West End (it was built in the 30s), well-appointed and comfortable and good view wherever you're sitting, from gallery to stalls.

The ballet was Coppelia and the fact that it's a good one to start youngsters off with meant that at this matinee Robin and I were small boys in sight, which is as it should be, surrounded by parents and daughters. No one of the dreads of my life is that our son will take an interest in ballet. I'll flatten him with a space gun if he ever broaches the subject.

Parents taking their youngsters to a matinee is a delightful English habit. It's a production and I did my best to fit in with all the rules as laid down over the years for such occasions. I equipped Robin with a program and put sixpence in the slot at the back of the seat in front for the hire of a pair of opera glasses. A third piece of essential equipment was a half-pound carton of chocolates purchased from the girl in the aisle. There was just one more thing to do before settling down to the show. From the usherette I ordered tea for the second interval. Robin was quite excited about having what she referred to as "tea on your lap"—the tea, bread and butter, biscuits and cakes is brought on a tray to you at your seat.

Robin sat on the edge of her seat entranced throughout the entire performance, intervals included. She was sorry I missed some of the show. I went out at each interval for a cigarette.

In the lobby I chatted with a young man who looked as though he knew about ballet. I asked him how it came to be called Sadler's Wells. Originally, he told me, it was a health spa and there is still one of the wells left at the back of the theatre. Sadler was the fellow who got things going, and the first theatre on the site was 'way back in the 1700s.

After the show was over and we were coming out I noticed the list of prices for seats and realized then how lucky Londoners are, when you think of the prices asked (and paid) when Sadler's Wells visit Toronto and other North American cities. The gallery is only the equivalent of 30 cents and the highest price for dress circle or stalls is only $1.75. Tea (on your lap) cost only 15 cents.

Passing the stage door on our way home we saw a crowd of autograph hunters. It was Robin's day, so I agreed to join the crowd. Half an hour passed and still no sign of the stars. But Robin was determined to get the prima ballerina's signature—her first ever autograph. After almost an hour's wait I found it hard to share Robin's enthusiasm for the project. I took her inside the stage door and spotted a good-looking girl with a bunch of flowers in her arms.

"There's the star," I said to Robin, and bug-eyed she approached the girl. She signed Robin's program and off we went home.

I don't know who was happier about that autograph—Robin or the girl—because when I looked her up in the program she was a very lesser light indeed and probably for both Robin and her it was the first ever autograph.

Council Shelves Plans to License Liquor Outlets After Strong Plea

City Council shelved plans to license liquor outlets at least temporarily Friday following a protest from the Canadian Restaurant Association.

President of the local branch of CRA, E. Brand, told the council it recommended $100-a-year fees were charged restaurants who serve beer and wine, five out of eight will return to food sales only.

Finance committee had asked council to adopt licensing of liquor outlets with a levy of $100 every six months for beer parlors and cocktail lounges and $50 every six months for restaurants.

Mr. Brand asked further consideration for restaurants.

KILL PROFIT

Sales for the last year in his own restaurant were $1,100, he said, while cost of the beer and wine was $750. Deducting the provincial $100 license plus a percentage of labor and overhead left a negligible net profit "which another $100 fee would eliminate."

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

A Borrowed Kidney

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

I just heard from the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, in Boston, that the operation on a lad with hopelessly diseased kidneys has been entirely successful. Fortunately, he had an identical twin brother who was kind enough to donate one of his good kidneys. The sick twin had a form of glomerulonephritis so bad that, at 23, he was about at the end of his rope.

Many persons will wonder why physicians don't more often transplant a borrowed kidney into a person with severe Bright's disease. The reason is that even if a mother gives a kidney to her child or a brother gives his kidney to his sister, the chemistry of the tissues of the donor is so different from the chemistry of the tissues of the recipient that the donated organ doesn't stand up; soon it disintegrates and goes to pieces. The only person who can hope to maintain intact and functioning a donated organ is the alike twin of the donor. Why? Because he and his alike twin are of one flesh. They came of one ovum which early divided into two parts. Then, from each half, there developed a human being.

According to the news I have received, Richard's life continues to be maintained well by the transplanted kidney which has functioned beautifully since it was placed in his abdomen near his urinary bladder. X-ray studies of the transplanted kidney show it to be functioning perfectly. The lad is looking hale and hearty; his face has rounded out, as he has gained some much-needed weight. Recently, Richard went back to the hospital to have his good-for-nothing kidney removed. Waking from the anesthesia, his first question was "Who won the fight last night?" When told who the winner was he was disgusted because he wanted the other guy to win!

HEADACHE RARELY DUE TO BRAIN TUMOR

It is unfortunate that so many persons with headaches worry themselves ill with the fear that they have a brain tumor. In my practice I see persons with headache every week, but I do not see a person with a brain tumor once in several years. Most of the severe throbbing headaches with nausea and vomiting, of the sort that frighten the patient, are just migraines. Fortunately, migraine never killed or maimed anyone. Fortunately, also, if the person can only learn to live with some calm and rest, the headaches should fade out by the age of 30.

At a recent meeting, my old friend, Dr. Winchell McK. Craig, head brain surgeon at the Mayo Clinic, said that the headaches of brain tumor are usually diffused over the head; they are usually intermittent, and often relieved by sudden vomiting, which may or may not be associated with nausea. What is characteristic is the getting of relief by vomiting.

Migrainous persons must not get frightened with this because sometimes they, too, get some relief of headaches when they vomit.

Week-End Weather Picture Across Canada

SYNOPSIS—The weather in the Okanagan and Kootenay valleys was unusually cold and showery today. A few bands of cloud extended westward as far as Vancouver and Victoria. The Cariboo and Prince Rupert areas were sunny, and clearing skies will extend down from the north during the day. Sunday will be fair over much of the province, although increasing cloudiness will reach the north coast from a storm in the Pacific.

Canadian Historian-Novelist Writes Top Books Hard Way

Phrases With 'Ring Like a Good Coin' Turned Out in Long Hours of Polishing

LIVERPOOL, N.S. (CP)—A tanned, distinguished-looking man of 52 habitually paces his sound-proofed mental gymnasium late into the night sweating out some of the best books written in Canada.

Thomas H. Raddall, historian and novelist, admits his best passages don't just come to him. They're a combination of plain hard work and a genius he would be reluctant to confess.

He's a thorough-going researcher and craftsman, and perfectionist to whom every phrase must have a ring like a good coin.

"I've never been one of those writers I've heard about who can sit down and dash something off in two or three months," he says. "I prefer to work carefully. I weigh every phrase and every passage."

He had a study built on the back of his substantial white wooden house so his agonies of creativity wouldn't disturb the sleep of his attractive wife and their son and daughter. Tommy is an engineering student at Acadia University and Frances expects to start there this fall.

Dr. Raddall—Dalhousie University conferred an honorary degree on him in 1949, but he is better known around here as Tom—works at his typewriter in a masculine room filled with things he likes: guns ancient and modern, charts, framed photographs and mementoes, and MacMac Indian relics. Five windows look beyond his lawns to woods that fringe this seacoast town.

This Spring he is finishing a novel tentatively named "Sawdust." It is the story of a young forester who returns home to break the hammerlock a monopolist has on timberlands that could mean prosperity for a declining community.

When it is completed he will jump into the third book of a series on Canadian history. Thomas Costain's "The White and the Gold" was first in the series and Joseph Lester Rutledge has just completed the second.

His schedule calls for four hours work each morning. "Then I golf, fish, hunt, hang around the wharves or walk the roads in the afternoon, and get back to work in the evening. I did work until midnight or later, but now I find that's usually too long. The evening is my best working time from old habit."

His "old habit" he picked up when he worked in the accounting offices of the Mersey Paper Company here by day and wrote, purely as a hobby, in the evening. His afternoon jaunts give him "the human contact every writer needs to know how people think and talk."

The son of a British Army officer, young Tom Raddall died about his age and went to sea at 15 after his father was killed in 1918. He stayed on ships after the First World War as a radio operator, then transferred to shore duty in Canada in lonely east coast radio outposts including Sable Island.

Then came a business course and work as a backwoods lumbercamp bookkeeper. There he became just as enamoured of the woods as he had been of the sea. Soon he was writing stories about the mill-hands, lumberjacks and Indians he met, then stories drawn from their historical counterparts.

He received governor-general's awards in 1943 and 1949.

Sour Outlook Wrecks Health, Doctor States

HOW TO LIVE 365 DAYS A YEAR, by Dr. John A. Schindler; Prentice Hall, New York; $3.95; 232 pages.

About half of this book is an analysis of the sex urge of humans, one might say from the cradle to the grave. The other half is how to keep healthy and make the most of every day of the year.

Most readers will find a lot to agree with and many things on which to differ with the doctor. Some might form the conclusion that it is hardly worth while to live 365 days under the regime so emphatically advocated by the doctor. All will find it interesting.

If you are sick, the chances are that your illness is due to your sour outlook, according to Dr. Schindler. He says that about 50 per cent of illnesses are emotionally induced. A large percentage of accidents are also traceable to jangled feelings.

BOOK TALK

By JAMES SCOTT

What this spring has really been waiting for is a real sharp, controversial book which the publicity boys could get their teeth into and chew for all its worth and then some. From (to me) an unexpected source, they've got just what they wanted—SOMETHING OF VALUE, by Robert Ruark.

It's not that U.S. columnist Robert Ruark is an unlikely lad to jolt the reading constituency, but rather that I hardly expected that he was likely to choose the Mau Mau problem in Kenya for his theme.

Mr. Ruark is a bold and brassy and no longer so young man who skyrocketed to syndicated fame in the past decade by writing a column full of racy, harsh prose and tough-guy humor. His themes have almost always been the shady side of the U.S. back fence. Politically he was not an avowed isolationist, but one suspected that, like a lot of other Americans who pay lip-service to a broader and more international outlook, his basic terms of reference were still strictly confined within the borders of the land of the free.

Yet here he is with a book about Kenya—the one spot in Africa where the seething torment of the Dark Continent has erupted and can be recognized by the outside world. Let us say at the very outset that Mr. Ruark has been to Kenya—a couple of times, in fact. In a way he knows what he is talking about because he has probably seen or heard about most of the things he describes in his novel. And, boys, what Mr. Ruark has seen and heard is plenty.

Shocking Tale of Obscene Hatred

He concentrates on the violence, the bestiality and the utter hatred which exists in both blacks and whites. He takes two young men, a native and a white boy, son of a planter's family, who grew up together and as they reached maturity separated according to the dictates and prejudices of his race to become enemies to the death—and that is no idle phrase, but a literal transcription of what their feelings for each other were.

From here on in the book is a tale of obscene hatred which will knock some of the cash customers right out of their easy chairs.

There is not a doubt in the world that this is one of those books which is going to get to be known (for a while at least) all over this continent. The Book of the Month has it; Hollywood has paid $300,000 plus royalties for rights; and even the humble book reviewers all across the continent are beginning to fight about it. This is success.

Well, it's one kind of success. What still remains to be considered is what kind of book this is in artistic and thoughtful terms.

In the first place I would sub-

Illusion of Truth Dangerous Matter

For money I think this is a dangerous kind of book to put into the hands of Canadians—or anybody else for that matter. This is the kind of thing that can fool people into thinking that they have got to the real truth of the matter: simply because the story has been put to them in a harsh and brutal manner. For a long time now many folk have been deluded into thinking that because a story was ugly it was therefore real.

It does not doubt the validity of the ugliness which Mr. Ruark presents to his readers; I do question its basic reality. In short, I do not think Mr. Ruark knows what he is talking about. The title of the book comes from an old Basuto proverb which says: "If a man does away with his traditional way of living and throws away his good customs, he had better first make certain he has something of value to replace them."

Mr. Ruark's trouble is that he does not know much about the traditions which the natives are being asked to throw away. How can he come to any intelligent conclusions without that knowledge?

"Upland Trails" (Macmillan) by Dan McCowan of Banff, Alta., shares with the reader the obvious interest and delight of the writer on the natural history of his native country—Western Canada.

To the biologist and naturalist, this book could bring forth many interesting and refreshing observations. Written in an easy-flowing style with little technical reference, "Upland Trails" supplies endless knowledge of the animal life, birds, trees and travel in the Canadian Rockies and provides tales of Indians, historical data and crisp observations of mountain environment.

Barclay Singers Heard in Debut With Artists

A debut recital by the Barclay Singers was presented this week under the auspices of the Women's Union of First Baptist Church. A large audience was warmly receptive to this ensemble of female voices, led by Vera Barclay.

Assisting artists were Jean Gilbert and Helen Gibson, who added most pleasing variety to the program with their two piano selections, and Dr. Harry Johns, who as usual gave a fine musically performance of songs splendidly chosen for the particular and moving qualities of his baritone voice.

Two other soloists having voices of exceptional quality were Margaret Christison, contralto, of the ensemble, and Mrs. Barclay.

A lovely range of songs had been chosen for the chorus including numbers by Bach, Brahms, Schumann and Grieg. Artistry was exemplified in shapely phrasing, good balance and control of tone, rhythmic significance and crispness of attack.

Among particularly well received items, were the numbers which were unaccompanied and accompanied on two pianos by Mrs. Barclay and James Saunders. "The Summer Day Has Passed Away" was also sung unaccompanied and unaccompanied. Mr. Saunders was the ensemble's accompanist. The recital took place at First Baptist Church Auditorium.

Third of Series About Jewish Life

THE SUN AT NOON, by Charles Angoff; Beechurst Publishing Company.

"The Sun at Noon" is Charles Angoff's third in a series of novels about Jewish life in America.

Like the first two books, this one deals with the Polonsky family who emigrated from Russia and settled in Boston some 50 years ago. The third covers the period from the First World War period until 1923, and is concerned chiefly with the college years of young David Polonsky, who worked his way through Harvard.

David is a sensitive, introverted young man, seemingly unable to make up his mind about anything, including the choice of a career. He and his parents, his uncles and aunts and cousins, are real and interesting persons, seen through the eyes of a writer who evidently is familiar with his subject.

ANTIQUE ATTENTION, Garden Lovers The windows of the Treasure House, 1021 Fort Street, are this week featuring a special display of old European garden pieces and flower containers, including wrought iron, pottery, marble, copper and bronze. These pieces will add beauty to any garden.

ART in REVIEW

By COLIN GRAHAM

Speaking of the art of children, as this column was doing a couple of weeks ago, I was reminded by some recent reading that it may not be altogether far-fetched to relate the matter to a topic rashly dealt with here around Christmas time. This was the perennial question as to what the next international painting style or styles will be.

It needs no special intuition or clairvoyance for a critic these days to sense that painting in Europe and the Americas has come to the end of a chapter. Surrealism and cubism, although the latter is being practiced by increasing numbers of painters, have undergone little real development as styles or outlooks since the 1930s.

The "action painters" of present-day New York and Paris have it is true gone beyond cubism and created an approach that is to a certain extent new. But their non-objective expressionism, while logically capable of endless variation and developments, in actual fact appears to be bogging down in a monotony of repetition.

The question that must be upmost in the minds of thinking painters and critics, therefore, is where do we go from here? What is the next style?

INSTINCTIVE ARTISTS This is where the children come in. Investigations in Europe and America during the past 60 years have been based on the assumption, apparently true, that the child gives us the best material we have for studying the esthetic structure of human beings at its most elemental, simply because the child paints instinctively and spontaneously and is scarcely touched by the sophisticated overlay of thought and reflection that complicates the adult. In making his impressive synthesis of these studies Sir Herbert Read, Britain's leading authority on the matter, has pretty well managed to prove that there is no single, simple

But probably few men stopped to realize that they had made less guarded provision for their own loved ones than this lady had made for her cat!

So many people neglect making a Will. Others write "home-made" Wills open to various misinterpretations. And some let their Wills become hopelessly outdated.

If your own Will needs attention, right now is a good time to see your lawyer about it.

National Trust, named as your Executor, can also be of help to you and your lawyer in planning the future administration of your estate. We invite you to write for free copy of our new booklet: "Security for Your Family."

AUDREY SAYS

Catering to Ignorance Precept of Councils

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

Reputation of Victoria is growing on the Mainland and in other cities across Canada. It is a reputation that has nothing to do with this city being a "good place for retiring" or "a little bit of old England!"

What it has to do with, and I quote from a Vancouver business man's recent conversation with me, is symphonic music and art galleries.

At this point I hope—though probably vainly for I doubt if they ever let their eyes drift over the "trash" in this column—that some of the "bare-faced boys with cheek" who clutter the aldermanic and council sessions of Greater Victoria, are looking in my direction.

CONTRARY VIEW

It is certainly a strange anomaly that while the rest of Canada is becoming more conscious of British Columbia's capital city because of the growing stature of its symphony orchestra and the expanding influence of its Art Centre, "Nothing For the Symphony" has become the watchword of those who conduct Greater Victoria's affairs.

The Arts Centre is only slightly more favored in being grudgingly handed a few paltry dollars that might possibly purchase a six-month supply of postage stamps.

Presumably if our chief magistrate and other elected representatives chose to favor such organizations as the symphony, they would be open to accusations from a section of the electorate, of catering to a long-haired, intellectually snobbish minority.

Evidently our civic arbiters prefer to risk accusation of catering to prejudice, ignorance and low standards, that being the safer way—the vote-getting way.

A few dollars saved the pocket of the individual taxpayer, a few votes secured on balloting day, elevation of ignorance to a place of honor—these are the guiding principles implied in the continuous disgraceful wrangling over cultural grants?

Are they fit principles with which to govern a beautiful and queenly city, capital of a great province?

It has been admitted by most of the members of one municipal council that they have never been to a symphony concert and never visited the Arts Centre. Yet these people have the crust—there is no other word for it—to interpret the attitude of a whole population by their own unimaginative, uninformed viewpoints.

MENTAL MURK

Of course it is obvious that their brash glorying in their lack of information is symptomatic of an inverted snobbery more profound than anything they attribute to people in other groups. They wallow in the mental murk of the dark ages, when anything not understood was to be feared, scorned, taboed.

Apparently it is quite all right to cater to a minority and take the tax money from the poor widow's pocket to pay for floats for millionaires' yachts in the hope that the owners may distribute largesse among the city's shops.

But pose the symphony orchestra against the visiting millionaires and it is dollars to doughnuts the symphony would win in a walk as immeasurably more value to the prestige and prosperity of the city.

GRUBER CONDUCTS

Mistaken Identity Mix-Up With Police Damages Confidence in National Economy

Early one morning, I was inching my way downtown through Toronto traffic—I was, in fact, on my way to rehearsal with the CBC Symphony Orchestra. I was, accordingly, dressed in my rehearsal garb, which makes up in comfort what it lacks in elegance. Driving a motor-car, even through Toronto's notorious rush-hours, is so automatic procedure with me, that I gave myself over wholly to thoughts pertinent to the music I was about to rehearse. I had misgivings about the "Hymn for Orchestra" by Charles Jones, which was to have been a first performance; its harmonies were, and remain, to me, chaotic, and the fugue still seems to me a contrapuntal free-for-all; but no matter.

My mind shifted to the Mozart "Prague" Symphony. I debated whether or not to trust my instinct and, contrary to tradition, lead into the recapitulation of the first movement with a pronounced ritard. (I did) Mozart, alas, is no longer here to defend himself against the vagaries and "intuition" of conductors; but Sir Ernest commented favourably upon it, so it could not have been too murderous a liberty.

You are wondering, by now, what exactly I wish to impart to you in this article. Well, it has to do with national economics, with a warning that we may be deeper into a recession, not to say depression, than many of us are aware. But then, you did not have it brought home to you in quite the same way as I did; so I will tell you what occurred before this morning drive of mine was over, and let you conclude what you will.

I suddenly found a policeman's face nearly through the open window of my car; he was seated upon a motorcycle, moving, as I did, at about three miles per hour; he leaned far over into my car, and in ominous tones whispered for me to pull over to the curb. When I did, he kept staring at me; I felt uncomfortable, because in my rehearsal dress I do look like an habitual lawbreaker.

Upon his curt command, I produced my driver's license, an utterly suspicious looking document, as its terms of validity is only a few months short of five years, and its appearance has not improved during that long sojourn in my wallet. My registration slip was in somewhat more legible repair, but also twisted and curled, since it is carried, in the best British Columbia tradition, wound around the steering column.

I was asked many questions, all the while being stared at in an intimidating look to which all policemen are born. I soon had a horrible conviction that crimes of a musical nature have suddenly come under the Criminal Code, in which case I knew it would go ill indeed for me, and only undeserved clemency on the part of the jury would save me from execution.

Since, however, I am still here to tell the tale, my fears were, manifestly, unfounded. Though I had allowed myself ample time, under ordinary conditions, for getting to the rehearsal on time, this ever lengthening delay was not counted upon. We had repaired to the police station by then; and only a phone call to the CBC finally established the case of mistaken identity. In short, this same policeman, having switched to a siren-equipped car, acted as my escort to the CBC studios, for otherwise I should not have been able to arrive on time.

It turned out they were looking for a hold-up man who had robbed some stores; he was reported to be driving an old Studebaker, dark blue in color, with an orange-based license plate, i.e., either British Columbia, New York State, Saskatchewan, or some other state or province with license plates similar to my British Columbia ones. I appeared to have answered that description awfully closely, both as to my means of conveyance and my personal get-up.

What does this have to do with the economic state of the country? Well, it gave ME time to think, at least. Time was when gangsters drove in bullet-proof limousines, of great luxury and newness. IF THEY are reduced now to driving in old cars which were inexpensive to begin with, can it be long before the rest of us will feel the pinch?

College of Organists Chapter Organized Here

Considering the number of musical organizations already existing in Victoria there might seem to be danger of redundancy with the formation of one more.

However, decision to form the new association made this week at a meeting at the home of Dr. D. B. Roxburgh, King George Terrace, undoubtedly fills a need and bands together a category of Victoria musicians who have been somewhat neglected under other auspices.

A Victoria Chapter of the Canadian College of Organists, with the aim of raising standards of church music and choir work across the country, cannot fail to be a welcome addition to the city's musical life.

So far, Victoria has been the only city of its size in Canada without such a chapter. Its existence will, it is hoped, spark more general interest in the study and understanding of the monarch of keyboard instruments and will engender more recitals, both by local and visiting organists.

Fifteen attended this week's inaugural meeting, several city churches being represented, as follows: Graham Steed (Christ Church Cathedral), C. C. Warren (St. Andrew's Presbyterian), George Peaker (Christian Science), Phillip Hughes (St. George the Martyr), Cadboro Bay, Eric Edwards (St. Luke's), Mrs. R. Yerburgh (St. Barnabas) and Miss Ann Van der Voort and Dr. Roxburgh.

It is planned to hold the next meeting when Dr. Charles Peaker, famous Canadian organist from Toronto, visits Victoria in June to give a recital at Metropolitan Church.

Information concerning the chapter and its membership qualifications can be obtained from Miss Ann Van der Voort, 1601 Ross Street.

WEEK-END MARQUEE

Thrilling Session for Fans In Radio's Fight Broadcast

No matter how you look at it in prospect the highlight of the entertainment week should be the 15-round world heavyweight fight between Champion Rocky Marciano and British Challenger Don Cockell set for 8 p.m., Monday over Seattle radio station KOMO. The fight will not be televised.

Although the betting heavily favors Marciano, who is making the fifth defense of his title, fans here will be rooting for an upset as the two square off in San Francisco's Kezar Stadium. Don Dunphy and Win Elliott are scheduled to do the blow-by-blow.

THE TELEVISION picture for next week ranges from fair to good. Unlike last week there are no color spectaculars scheduled.

But let's look at the highlights.

Highlight of Monday, surely, must be Robert Montgomery's presentation of F. Scott Fitzgerald's moving tale of the roaring 20s, "The Great Gatsby." Montgomery himself will play the lead in the adaptation that is slated for Channel 4 at 10.30. The cast will include Lee Remick, Phyllis Kirk, John Newland and Scott Tennyson.

On the same night, same channel, but at 9, Sid Caesar and Nanette Fabray will do a Victor's sketch wherein Bob Victor harvests a bumper crop of gardening woes.

On Tuesday former CBC Vancouver radio actor Bernie Braden, now residing in England where he is a popular personality on British television, will be host-narrator of a new Channel 2 program entitled Bernie Braden Tells a Story; the stories are by Canadian authors. Current time is 7.45. The first story is called "Bobby and the Fire Chief," by Pat Armstrong of Stenest, Sask.

At 9.30 the same night Channel 5 will present the Elgin Hour's "San Francisco Fracas," starring Polly Bergen and Orson Bean. Its plot has to do with a quiet young man who becomes involved with stolen diamonds, a Chinese gentleman and an earthquake.

Or, if your taste runs to science-fiction yarns, you might like to turn to Channel 5 at 9 when Richard Arlen and Jess Barker star in "Out of Nowhere," in which a toy factory sabotages the radar defence screen.

Two shows should highlight Wednesday's offerings. At 8, on Channel 4, Kodak Request Performance plays "Return in Triumph," starring George Brent, Gertrude Michael and Kathleen Crowley. The plot concerns a rich man who returns to his old home town expecting to gloat but remains for a dismal self-investigation.

At 9, Kraft Theatre presents "Flowers for 2B," a story of loyalty in conflict with love.

At 8, Friday, the Channel 5 Rin Tin Tin adventure sees Rusty and Rinty forced to live in Prairie City when an elderly woman shows documentary proof that the lad is her long-lost grandson. Meanwhile Lieut. Masters searches for evidence to prove the documents are illegal.

On Channel 4, the same night at 10.30, Victory At Sea depicts the capture of a Nazi sub by a U.S. jeep carrier.

SPORTS:—What may turn out to be a good scrap looms for Channel 11 at 7, Wednesday, when Willie Pep and Gil Cadillac meet in a 10-rounder at Detroit. Last time out Cadillac was winner in a decision that raised such a rumpus that a return bout was inevitable.

On Friday, at 7, Channel 4 will carry the scheduled 10-round fixture between Gil Turner and Ramon Fuentes from New York. Turner, a middleweight, defeated Fuentes, a welterweight, two years ago. This should be interesting.

Baseball fans who can pick up Channel 13 on their sets can resume their Pacific Coast League reviewing. At 9, Tuesday, Channel 13 will present the Elgin Hour's "San Francisco Fracas," starring Polly Bergen and Orson Bean. Its plot has to do with a quiet young man who becomes involved with stolen diamonds, a Chinese gentleman and an earthquake.

Sow outside more seed of the hardy flowering annuals for later blooming.
Stake tall growing perennials in exposed positions, and tie in as they grow.
Dahlia tubers which have not been started into growth may now be planted. Place support stakes before planting tubers.

Remove faded flowers from all daffodils and tulips.
Tomato plants may be set out if garden is sheltered from winds. Better to wait till end of month in exposed districts.
Pot-on plants in greenhouse before they become pot bound, except those coming into flower.
Plant main crop potatoes.
Sow seed outdoors of savoy and other fall cabbage.
First cutting of asparagus should be ready now. Water if soil is becoming dry.
Berry fruits should receive deep watering and one dose of fertilizer made into liquid form.
Prune camellia by cutting out only loose or straggling shoots after flowering.
Remove flower heads from rhododendrons as they fade.

BEASTALL COMMENTS

Seeding a Lawn Around That New House? Government Bulletin Irons Out Problems

A couple of good bulletins have recently been released by the Dominion Experimental Station at Saanichton which should be of considerable interest to many local gardeners.

The title of the first is "Lawn: Planting and Maintenance," and its reference is Mimeo No. 153. This nine-page bulletin contains the answers to many lawn problems common to this district, as well as the results of tests with 14 varieties and nine mixtures of grass seeds.

The second bulletin covers "Experiments With Small Fruits, 1943-1954," and is the joint work of E. R. Hall (pomology) and G. R. Webster (soil and plant nutrition). Some very interesting facts are disclosed as the result of 11 years' experimenting. Especially noticeable are the increased yields of small fruits subjected to irrigation, and by those treated with sawdust in various ways.

Although sawdust mulches gave the highest yield for the three-year test period on strawberries, it is significant that nearly 50 per cent of the mulched roots were lost due to root rots.

This 15-page bulletin, designated as Mimeo No. 157, should prove exceedingly interesting to those who grow strawberries, cane fruits, grapes, currants and gooseberries. It is worth knowing the newer varieties which are replacing those which we have considered the best during the past 25 years.

The bulletins may be obtained by writing the superintendent, Dominion Experimental Station, Saanichton, B.C.

Flowers which do not like to be transplanted include annual poppies, salpiglossis, mignonette, annual phlox. If necessary to transplant them the seedlings should be grown in small pots so they can be moved without disturbing their roots.

Rugs Play Part In Decoration Of Modern Home

A more individual approach, generally, to the decoration of today's homes is as true in the selection of floor coverings as in the choice of furniture, lamps and other furnishings. One expression of this individuality is seen in the introduction of rugs in all sizes and styles, notes Retalling Daily.

The warm look of wood floors punctuated with large, gaily patterned rugs, and the use of accent styles in conversational groupings and dining areas have become important fashions. Then, too, the use of hard flooring in more rooms of the house has stimulated new decorative combinations of rugs over smooth surface bases.

There is also a practical consideration in the production of new rugs influenced by today's smaller, more compact quarters. Where parts of rooms serve as passageways, the use of room-sized or area rugs, which can be turned around and sent out to be cleaned, is a highly practical solution.

FIX-IT FORUM
Q: I understand that all types of fire extinguishers will not do for all types of fires. Is this correct, and if so which extinguishers should be used for what?—N.L.
A: Soda-acid or water-type extinguishers will do for fires of wood, paper or rubbish. Foam extinguishers will put out those fires, but will also extinguish fires in grease, oil, kerosene, gasoline and paint. Carbon tetrachloride extinguishers are best for electrical fires and small fires that result from the ignition of flammable liquids.

Plant Corn at Own Risk Impatient Gardener Told

By JACK BEASTALL
Q: I am impatient to get some sweet corn planted. Is it too early?

A: Early June is considered right for most local gardens. However, since you are impatient, sow your corn in short rows in the form of a square, placing the groups (hills) or seed two feet apart. If these are not doing well by the first week of June fill in at one foot apart with further seed. If your soil is well worked and warm, you may be lucky this year with an early sowing.

growing in pots. What is its name, please?

A: Most garden stores carry an "Acid-mix fertilizer" to use for plants preferring an acid soil. For pots or garden, use according to directions.

Q: Last summer I had a plant of the lovely trailing evening primrose, Oenothera missouriensis. This spring there appear to be seedlings growing up around it. Will these be any good?

A: Oenothera missouriensis is the same plant as O. macrocarpa, and comes true from seed, so that your seedlings are well worth keeping. They will probably flower a little next year.

Garden Chair, Ottoman For Summer's Lazy Days

This combination will be dad's favorite after he brings it up from his workshop this summer. He will enjoy building it, too, since it is so simple when following the Handy Plan Pattern.

Complete instructions and diagrams for assembling both the chair and ottoman are available at your dealers or through this newspaper. Simply enclose 50 cents with your request for Better Homes and Gardens Handy Plan No. 140 and mail your request to Register and Tribune Syndicate, PO Box 751, Des Moines, Iowa.

The garden chair and ottoman designed for each other by Henry P. Glass, offer comfortable lounging anywhere in your yard. Wheels on the chair and the size of the ottoman make them both easily movable. An extra ottoman or two will give you additional seats at a very low cost.

Made of sturdy pieces of lumber, the garden chair and ottoman will stand up under bad weather and active children.

Garden Dogwood Tree Will Thrive With Care

By HENRY FREE

"What does a flowering dogwood have that other small flowering trees do not?"

This delightful tree is constantly being recommended by garden writers, nature lovers and nurserymen. The reason is not difficult to find.

The flowering dogwood has character. As specimen on the lawn it is beautiful, and it can be used as a shade tree.

In a group, particularly along the wood's edge or the shrub border, its flowers present a beautiful sight. Against a background of evergreens its flowers seem even whiter. The flowering dogwood is America's finest and most beautiful native flowering tree.

LIKES COMPOST

The dogwood grows readily and is easily transplanted. The roots feed close to the surface of the soil, principally upon old decayed leaf compost.

It adapts itself along the south and east edges of the woodland, where the soil is well drained, but the season's rains constantly wash nature's compost of decayed leaves and barks over the roots from which the dogwood gets its proper nourishment.

It loves water, but it must drain off quickly, for if the roots are too wet, they will decay. While dogwood grows well in shaded areas, it thrives best in the open sunshine.

Dogwood can be transplanted successfully in either spring or fall and, with very careful handling, in midsummer and midwinter. It does not like lime.

If soil from the woods, or an acid humusy soil enriched with old manure, is used when planting, it will grow well in almost any position.

LEAVE IT ALONE

Once dogwood becomes established, it must be left alone and allowed to build up slowly. The small white root fibres which are near the surface of the soil must not be disturbed, for these are the feeders and are essential to healthy trees.

Mere mention will be made of various species. Cornus florida rubra, generally known as pink dogwood, is a sprout from the well-known white dogwood and responds to the same care. Its lovely, pink-colored flowers make it extremely desirable.

Cornus florida alba-plena, the double-flowering white dogwood, is an interesting novelty, though it cannot compare with the single white.

Cornus Kousa comes from China and Japan. It grows to a height of 20 to 25 feet. The flowers are not as conspicuous as white dogwood, although they are creamy white. The fruit is larger and red in color.

Cornus Kousa grows quite pyramidal and is fine for screen planting.

Furnishings Blend, Beautify Settings

One of the designs most vividly illustrating imaginative thinking is the cedar chest. It is so changed in appearance that it bears no resemblance to its predecessor; it is designed to blend with all types of room settings.

The ability to look beyond the primary purpose of a piece is responsible for other original treatments of design. Mirrors, for instance, show artistic bent, with patterns worked in engraved lines which are colored before the plate is silvered, and carts go beyond the serving cart function to carry serving trays.

Your Sunny Backyard Can Be Dangerous Unless You Attend to Safety Regulations

By MR. FIX

Sure, it's great to be outdoors, under the warm sun doing yard and garden work, improving the property. But try not to overdo it. Your enthusiasm could carry you away—to the nearest hospital.

You are easy pickings for the ambulance man when fatigue crosses up your reflexes and coordination. Pretty soon you're taking reckless chances.

Another kind of carelessness has nothing to do with fatigue. It's committed deliberately, almost automatically, by the guy who says, "Chances are I won't get hurt." He's the chap we're really worried about, because if he gets away with it once he'll try it again and again until his luck runs out, as it's bound to.

His trouble is familiarity. Familiarity with the work he's doing and the tools he's using.

Take lawn mowing, for example. We know a fellow who when the blades of his power lawn mower got jammed with grass in the midst of a cut, would throw out the clutch and kick at the blades to free them again. Little shortcut he had.

figured out. Since he didn't have to shut off the engine it saved time.

Then one day he forgot to disengage the clutch. He kicked at the blades, they spun around with the full power of the engine behind them and whisked the tip of his shoe off. A couple of his toes went with the leather.

If you still need a safety lesson, read on. Here's a list of a dozen hints to help you safely through another outdoor living season.

1. Clear the lawn of stones, wire and debris before mowing. And tell the children to go fly a kite, somewhere else.
2. Shut off the engine of a power mower when removing debris from, or adjusting, blades. Except when actually mowing or adjusting the engine, always shut it off. Don't leave it while it's running.
3. Don't smoke while filling mower with fuel.
4. Don't use an electric mower on wet grass or while it's raining.
5. Keep tools sharp. Dull tools cause fatigue because use of them requires increased effort.
6. Store tools neatly in garage or tool shed. Keep sharp ones out of children's reach when not in use. Never leave them lying around outdoors.
7. Carry tools carefully to and from the garden or work area. Whenever possible transport tools in a wheelbarrow.

8. Do not swing tools in confined spaces, especially not in the vicinity of clotheslines or clothesline poles.

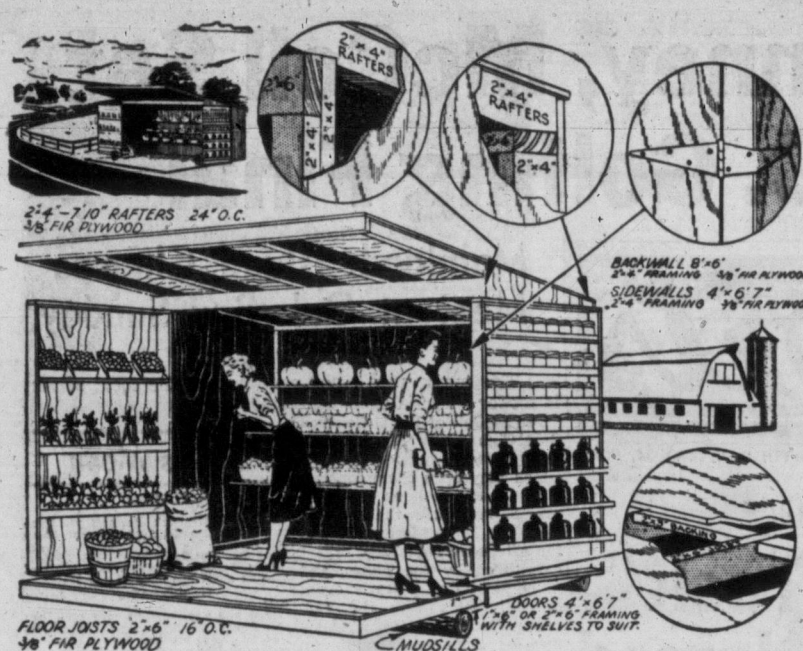

9. Keep poisonous sprays, insecticides and weed killers in safe places, preferably under lock and key in the garage.

10. Have a garden hose or fire extinguisher handy when burning rubbish or brush. Tell children again to vamoose.

11. Burning rubbish or leaves on blacktop paving could result in a bigger blaze than you'd bargain for and certainly wouldn't do the blacktop any good.

12. When pruning large trees, lash ladder to the trunk. Don't hold onto dead limbs and be careful that cutoff limbs don't fall on you or dislodge ladder. Finally, remember the joke about the guy who cut off the tree limb he was standing on. Tain't funny.

Lettuce seed germinates best in a soil temperature of 60 to 65 degrees. If necessary to sow when temperatures are higher, place the seed between moist cloths and store for several days on ice. Dry the surface of the seed before sowing.

Roadside Stand of Fir Plywood Can Become Farm Money Maker

Farm produce sold from a roadside stand is often a money-making sideline. Shown in detail above is a stand that combines many good features in one simple structure.

Best feature is that ease of construction makes this fir plywood stand one that anybody can build himself and have a professional-looking building to boot.

The over-hanging roof and walk-in arrangement encourages stops even on a rainy day. All products are handily displayed. The shelf-doors fold in to lock the stand at night or when unattended.

The stand pictured here is placed too close to the highway—a much better location would have it back from the door with drive-in space provided.

Structural details are illustrated and easy to follow. The whole stand can be built using 1/2-inch fir plywood and in most instances full-size 4x8 foot panels can be used without further cutting or shaping. The waterproof glue bond of all fir plywood produced in Canada makes this a tight structure that will stand up to extremes of weather, winter and summer. It can be placed on mud sills, as shown, or can be fixed permanently to skids so that it could be readily moved. However it is set up any farm manager interested in a stand for roadside selling will find it an economical structure.

New flowers are always interesting, but no doubt there are hundreds of old-timers which would be new to you. It is fun to try out some of these each year.

ROOFMASTER ASPHALT SHINGLES

Now Building Products Limited, Canada's largest manufacturer of Asphalt Shingles, presents the most outstanding advance in roofing in years—PATENTED B.P. ROOFMASTER Asphalt Shingles. A truly new concept in modern roofing, B.P. ROOFMASTER Shingles are dramatically different in appearance, unlike any other shingle ever made! They combine a "built-up" grained pattern (No. 1) with an extremely natural-looking shadow band (No. 2) to give your roof amazing design depth, rugged beauty and appealing character.

10 BEAUTIFUL COLOURS

B.P. ROOFMASTER Shingles are available in ten pleasing, practical colours:—Quaker Grey, Carnelian Red, Gulf Green, Cobalt Blue, Copper Blend, Manor Blend and four 2-Tone Blends—Green, Blue, Red and Black. All owe their distinctive beauty to the unique B.P. ROOFMASTER design. Whether you are building or re-roofing, there's a B.P. ROOFMASTER colour that will cap your roof with lasting beauty, create striking individuality and enhance your home and its surroundings.

DURABLE AND ECONOMICAL

The extra "built-up" granule layer on B.P. ROOFMASTER Shingles provides "built-in" rigidity—resulting in long wear, permanent beauty, extra weatherability. ROOFMASTERS are gratifyingly economical—they cost no more than other 3-in-1, 210 lb. Asphalt Shingles. And remember, if you're re-roofing, you can take advantage of a NHA Home Improvement Loan to finance material and labour costs—easy terms, no down payment. See your bank.

Visit your B.P. dealer and see these exclusive shingles now... or write for full-colour literature to: P.O. Box 6063, Montreal, or P.O. Box 99, Winnipeg.

The Parade of Champions

Many winners stepped onto the dais at Vic High stadium Friday to receive track and field ribbons but when it came to naming final aggregate champs, it was the above threesome that received the cheers of the crowd. Tom English, left, captured the junior boys' championship; senior girls' winner was Pam Golby, and Bill Hitch was the winner of the senior boys' title. Junior girls' champion (not in picture), was Connie Sampson. (See results, Page 14).—(Times Photo.)

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

The end of the week, or... okay, okay, we saw what that other fellow said about us last Thursday.

(We should explain here that if you don't take that other paper (and why should you) that the "other fellow," to whom we refer, occupies the same position on that daily as we do here. And on Thursday he decided that he did not appreciate previous remarks of your agent and your agent's box agent, a Mr. Dennis Boyd, concerning explanations and comments made on an alleged statement by Dr. Frank Kenny, CLA president, reportedly scoring the Shamrocks for being too successful, for the good of lacrosse. Because we defended Dr. Kenny and apparently irked this fellow by disagreeing with his criticism of Dr. Kenny, he took us to task. Now you should be up to date.)

First off, he suggests that his column of Saturday week, must have packed a "delayed wallop" because Mr. Kenny was not defended here until Tuesday night. We would suggest in return that if this Thursday for articles printed Tuesday and Wednesday, then he also had reason to note the item here on Tuesday disclosing the fact that from Friday to Sunday we were absent from the city and thus did not observe his criticism of Mr. Kenny until our return.

That's when Dr. Kenny's defence took shape. Mr. Boyd having been present at the meeting in question, which this other fellow was not, and when Dr. Kenny allegedly made the statements.

Speaking of Glass Houses . . .

Then the suggestion is made by this fellow that he didn't expect "outsiders to butt in" on his own private feud with Dr. Kenny.

So sorry to have attempted to tell the other side of the case, again Mr. Boyd again having been a witness to it all. Really, so sorry! No contracts for glass houses available here.

There were other insinuations, too, made by this fellow. One was that he did not doubt that Mr. Boyd "did not hear" Dr. Kenny make the alleged remarks; then adds: "but that's a lot different than saying Dr. Kenny did not make them." And neither do we doubt that this fellow "did not hear" our greeting of "good evening" Wednesday night at Memorial Arena, but that's not to say we did not say it.

Real Wallops Come Sunday

He also says, this fellow does, that he checked with three Vancouver writers (all from the same paper) who attended the meeting at which etc. . . and they said "definitely," to his inquiry, as to whether Dr. Kenny made the alleged statements.

Perhaps, in explanation, an explanation this fellow uses himself, they "did not hear" either, because no other reporters there apparently did.

And so on . . . and here we are and there he is. . . .

And lest it be said—now that we can also be accused of (in this fellow's own words) "wasting your time"—that his latest opus also packed a "delayed wallop" (today being Saturday), it is respectfully suggested that he too knows, what most readers do, that this space on Friday is occupied by Tee Topics.

And it is our opinion that Sunday's B.C. match play Open golf championship between Bill Mawhinney and Bill McColl packs more of a wallop, delayed or otherwise, than this other fellow took at us.

Sorry . . . real sorry . . . that we "buted in!" And a "good afternoon," to you Jim, or do you "did not hear?"

'Let Laird Do It', North Kiwanis Slogan

North Kiwanis Little League baseball team has left things up to catcher Eddie Laird twice now, and he hasn't let them down yet.

Friday night at Little League Park, Laird pounded out three doubles and drove in three runs as North Kiwanis won its second straight game over Rotary, 7-3. In the American League opener last Sunday, it was Laird's home run that won the game, 1-0.

All the scoring came early in Friday's contest. The score was 3-3 in the bottom of the third inning when defending champion North Kiwanis pumped across three runs for a comfortable margin.

In the Babe Ruth League, UCT, behind the pitching and hitting strength of Dave Emery, dumped Tillikum, 6-2, Friday night to force a three-way tie for first place.

Emery, doled out only three hits and struck out 16 from the mound, and smashed a grand slam home run in the fourth inning for the winners.

Thursday night bases-loaded home runs by Ed Castner and Murray Superle helped considerably as Eagles routed Menzies Fuel, 23-3. Jack Greenwood pitched a two-hitter for the winners.

ESQUIMALT L'IL LEAGUE OPENS SEASON SUNDAY

Royalty, music and a doubleheader will get the Esquimalt Little League baseball season off to a flying start Sunday afternoon at the Little League diamond, Bullen Park, at 1 o'clock.

The four-team league will be opened by the Esquimalt May Queen, civic guests and friends, and the Esquimalt High School Band.

First game of the twin bill, at 1, will match Naden Pirates and Esquimalt Lions while Yarrows and Esquimalt Merchants meet in the second game, following the official opening ceremonies.

SHADES OF YANKEE PAST

Mantle Cracks Three for Far

By Associated Press

Some of the pitching arms may be getting weary and some of the joints creaky on the once mighty New York Yankees, but the spirit of Babe Ruth and Joe Dimaggio breathes on.

Mickey Mantle, the boyish-looking Oklahoma who was marked prematurely for baseball greatness, rekindled memories of the Yankees' most prodigious hitting feats with three home runs Friday which dazed the Detroit Tigers 5-2.

Using borrowed bats and a "don't-kill-the-ball" technique suggested by manager Casey Stengel, the 23-year-old switch-hitter struck two from the left side of the plate and the third from the right.

He became the first American League player to hit home runs from alternate sides and the third player in major league history to accomplish the unique act, Jim Russell of Brooklyn did it in 1950 and Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals in 1951.

ONE-MAN WRECKER

Mantle's one-man wrecking job dulled all other developments of a major league program chopped in half by four postponements because of rain and unseasonable cold.

The quick-starting Brooklyn Dodgers forestalled any panic and snapped a two-game closing streak by whacking Milwaukee Braves 6-2 on home runs by Junior Gilliam and Roy Campanella.

Another well-known centre fielder, Willie Mays, put a shot out of the park in the 10th inning to give the New York Giants a 4-3 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Boston Red Sox won a weird, rain-plagued game from the Kansas City Athletics 4-3 at Boston in which the winning run was walked home in the ninth. Kansas City manager Lou Boudreau played the game under protest, contending play was resumed after an hour and 23 minutes delay before rain had stopped.

Mays' game-clinching home run for the Giants was his seventh of the season.

Palmer Fourth In Pin Meet

TORONTO (CP).—Ray Bala, of Windsor, Ont., stepped into the lead of the Canadian tenpin singles bowling championship Friday with a 1,033-five-game total.

Pete Jones, of Calgary, was second with 908. In third position was Francois Raymond, of Quebec, P.Q., with 894.

In fourth place was Andy Palmer, of Victoria, B.C., with an 873 five-game total.

Bala's best single-game score was a 208. Winner of the championship, to be decided today, will represent Canada at the American Bowling Congress Masters' Tournament at Fort Wayne, Ind.

Tartan Golf Tourney Due

The sixth annual Tartan's Men's Wear golf tournament will be held at Royal Colwood Golf Club Wednesday.

Defending champions are Daryl Anderson, low gross, and Bill Phillips, low nett. However, Anderson may have his work cut out for him this year as two of the eligible entries are PNCIA champ Bob Fleming and Times Island Open finalist Hugh Morrison.

Draw will be announced early next week, with 50 to 60 entries expected.

Pony League Baseball Opening Postponed

The Pony League baseball opening, originally scheduled to take place at Carnarvon Park on Sunday, has been postponed one week to May 22.

Failure of team uniforms to arrive is the reason for the postponement.

Mawhinney, McColl Set For B.C. Golfing Final

Mainland, Island Champs Meet at Oak Bay Sunday

By BILL WALKER

The major men's golfing event of the local season is set for Victoria Golf Club Sunday.

Bill McColl of Royal Colwood Golf Club meets Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver for the B.C. match play open championship. The match will be contested over 36 holes with the morning round of 18 to start at 10 and the afternoon round at 2.

Initiated by the Times, and to be staged as a yearly event in conjunction with the Vancouver Daily Province, Sunday's meeting between McColl, an amateur, and Mawhinney, a professional, will mark the first time such a competition has been held.

The playoff will alternate between the two cities, Vancouver to host the event in 1956. Other provincial meetings in the past between amateurs and pros on a tournament scale have been on medal play.

McColl is the Times Vancouver Island match play champion while Mawhinney is the Province Vancouver match play king.

McColl defeated Hugh Morrison in the Island final, 8 and 7. Mawhinney downed B.C. amateur champion Lyle Crawford, 4 and 3 in the Vancouver playoff.

The rival finalists have never previously met in competition although both are the holders of numerous titles.

With local interest running high in the event, a large gallery is expected. This is particularly so as no other major men's tournaments are scheduled for the city this year.

The winner will receive a trophy donated jointly by the Times and Province. Mawhinney, as a professional, will receive a cash award, while McColl, an amateur, will receive merchandise.

Referees for the match will be A. Vernon Macan and professional Phil Taylor of the host Victoria club.

TO BE TELEvised

The Times was advised today that CBC television cameras will film the event for presentation over CBU (Channel 2) next week, probably on the "Time Out" program Monday night at 7:30. A more definite announcement will be made when confirmation is received from CBU.

Prize presentation will take place immediately following the match. If the weather is suitable, the ceremonies will be held on the first tee of Victoria Club; if not, the presentations will be made in the Victoria Club clubhouse.

Mr. Stuart Keate, Times publisher, will present the awards.

Sonmor Loses Eye

PITTSBURGH (AP).—Glen Sonmor, star forward for Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League, underwent an operation Friday for removal of his right eye.

The eye was injured last Feb. 27 when he was hit by a puck during a game here between the Barons and Pittsburgh Hornets. The puck was fired by a teammate and caromed off the arm of a Pittsburgh defenseman.

Huddersfield Arrives

QUEBEC CITY (BUP).—The Huddersfield Town soccer team arrived here Friday aboard the Empress of Scotland for a nine-game exhibition tour of Canada and the United States.

PREP RECORDS TUMBLE

School Track Champs Named

Records tumbled, flying track shoes kicked up clouds of cinders and new champions were crowned Friday as three high school track and field meets were concluded.

At Victoria High School Friday, five more records fell by the wayside in the final day of competition. That brought to 10 the number of new records set in the four-day meet.

House II, which piled up a steady lead through the week, dominated Friday's events and won the inter-house crown with a total of 191 1/4 points. Runner-up was House III with 117 1/4 points, House I totalling 116 1/4 points and House IV was last with 106 1/4 points.

In addition to its inter-house victory, House II also picked up three of the four individual championships.

Most outstanding of the new records established was Joe Haegart's feat of chopping sixteenth of a second off the long-standing record for the 220, previously held by the late Joe Addison since before the Second World War. Haegart flashed past the tape in 23 seconds flat to hang up the new record in the senior division although Haegart, only 16, is a junior.

Haegart also won the 100 yards and finished with a total of 21 points.

Hitch, Golby Win at Vic High

Senior champion was Bill Hitch, who took the crown with a brilliant 29 1/2 points, on four firsts, two seconds and a sixth-place finish.

Senior girls' winner was Pam Golby, who amassed 27 points for a 14 1/2 point edge over runner-up Ruth Orton.

Connie Sampson successfully defended the junior championship she won last year, finishing on top of her division with 25 points.

Versatile Tom English stacked up 22 points to win the junior boys' title with a 10-point lead over his division and set a new record of 10.6 in the junior 100 yards.

The Oak Bay High School meet was close to a one-man show, with Jack Showers in the starring role.

Five Ribbons for Jack

Young Showers picked up five first-place ribbons and one second as he totaled 28 points to win the junior championship in a battle with Jamie Costain.

Costain beat Showers in the 120-yard hurdles but finished second behind Showers in, four other events.

The senior boys' championship went to Phil Willis, with 14 points, while Claudia Gelling was the senior girls' winner with 15 points and Margaret Baird totaled 20 points to win the junior girls' championship handsily.

Entering all four aggregate winners, House III had little trouble winning the interhouse championship with a total of 201 points. House I scored 155 points for second place and House II was third with 142 points.

Out at the North Saanich High School meet at Sidney, Carol Darks turned in a perfect four-victory performance, ran on the winning relay team and captured the intermediate girls' championship with 32 points. Arvilla North scored 27 points to win the senior girls' title and Harold Jacobsen piled up 34 points for the senior boys' aggregate crown.

Lynn Christian captured the intermediate boys' individual championship on the strength of a 29-point total; Eunice McKay's 24-point total gave her the junior girls' championship and Kenneth Thorne and Earl Brown tied with 19 points each to share the junior boys' title. (See track results, Page 14)

'Y' Team Dominates City Swimming Meet

The YMCA swimming team breezed to an overwhelming victory Friday night in the city swimming championships at Crystal Garden pool.

The strong "Y" squad won all but one event to defeat the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club team.

Lone VASC victory was scored by Monty Holding, who won the under-11 free-style event by edging teammate Wayne Wagner and the Y's Harold McKenzie.

An upset occurred in the 220-yard boys' free-style relay when the "Y" second team defeated the first team to win the Britannia Branch Trophy.

The girls' first team from YMCA took the Pro Patria Trophy in their competition.

Sheri Stott won the Jack Todd Trophy for the under-17 girls' medley championship and Don Heywood won the Jack Todd Trophy for the under-17 150-yard medley championship for boys, closing a 30-yard deficit to nip Gerry Cuthbert in the final yards.

ROCK PRACTICE

Sunday morning's scheduled practice for the Victoria Shamrocks has been cancelled, coach Red McMillan reports. However, the team will work out Monday night at 7 at Memorial Arena.

Rematch Promised Of Garden Blood Bath

NEW YORK (UP).—New York fight fans and living room experts through the nation today were promised a rematch "in about seven weeks" between middleweights Eduardo Lausse of Argentina and Ralph (Tiger) Jones of Yonkers, N.Y., after one of the best bouts here in years.

Lausse, hailed as the greatest puncher to come out of the Argentine since Luis Angel Firpo, battled to a unanimous 10-round decision over Jones Friday night in a nationally televised and broadcast bout at Madison Square Garden. Each weighed 157 1/2 pounds.

It was a "blood bath" from start to finish, with Lausse providing all the blood.

Only 2,819 turned out for the first boxing show at the Garden since March 25, but they were treated to one of the most brutal battles in the history of the famed punch emporium.

The fight was so well received by the small crowd that matchmaker Billy Brown promised to give Jones another crack at Lausse sometime in July. The grim-faced Argentine will need that much time to nurse his facial cuts.

Winger, Ford Hold Hot Springs Golf Lead

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (BUP).—Bo Winger of Oklahoma City and Doug Ford of Klamath Lake, N.Y., shooting sub-par golf, today took a two-stroke lead into the third round of the $15,000 Hot Springs open golf tournament.

Close behind them were Ted Kroll of Utica, N.Y., and Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn.

Winger and Ford shot 67s for the second consecutive day Friday over the par-72 Hot Springs No. 3 course for 134 totals. Kroll had a 69 and Middlecoff a 68 to wind up with 136 each.

Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N.C., was alone in fifth place with 137, followed by Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Tommy Bolt of Houston, Tex., tied at 138.

The best 18-hole score Friday was turned in by Mayer, who shot a 32-33 to go with his earlier 73. His 65 pulled him up among the leaders.

Arrows Capture Fourth Straight

Arrows 5, Victoria City 1

Arrow Furniture are still undefeated in the Senior Men's Softball League. Friday night at Central Park they won their fourth straight of the season with a 5-1 win over their nearest rivals Victoria City.

Archie Sluggert started on the mound for the league leaders and the "dipsy-doodle" veteran hurler was never better. He retired the first 12 batters in a row, gave up a walk in the top of the fifth, and then retired 10 more in a row.

In the eighth inning, with one away, Bill Merluck worked Sluggert for another walk, and he moved up to second on a passed ball.

Right fielder Don Paulin then ruined Sluggert's bid for a no-hitter with a solid line single over the third baseman. Merluck scored on the blow for City's one and only run.

In the ninth inning, Bob Abbott dropped a double behind second base for the only other hit off Sluggert.

Arrows, although they were no Goliaths at the plate themselves, made the most of six errors committed by Victoria City.

They opened the scoring in the second inning with a single run without the aid of a hit, added two in the third on two hits, and scored single runs in the sixth and seventh on a triple by George Wright and double by Bill Benn. All runs but one were unearned.

DOUBLE BILL
Sunday afternoon-Navy and Cec Fletchers meet in a double-header. They pick up a rain-out game for seven innings, and then play a regular scheduled game over the full nine innings. The first game will start at 1:30.

Short score follows:
Victoria City .000 800 010—1 2 6
Arrow Furniture 012 001 100—5 6 0
Beaulac and Hansen, Sluggert and Turner.

A Week's Work

By DENNY BOYD

This was a week in which lacrosse pellets, draughts of warm wind and a number of anecdotes flew through the air, all at varying altitudes. To find out what happened let's look at the record.

Football—Ken Higgs, who has been the foot, arm, brain and muscle behind almost 10 years of Oak Bay football teams, received an offer to attend training camp with the B.C. Lions at Kelowna in July. Ken will have all expenses paid for the two-week session, courtesy of Annis Stukus, who is intrigued by Ken's past record. Ken, who plays his best at around 185, has pared down from 205 to 193.

Primarily a plunging full-back, Ken hopes to try for a halfback slot, so he won't have to compete with the likes of fullbacks Al Pollard and Byron Bailey.

Hockey—Did someone say hockey was a dead issue in Tacoma? Putting hockey in the arena at Tacoma used to be a losing proposition. Now, the arena owners have rented it out for the storage of wheat. Where once the likes of Joey Johns and Babe Pratt strutted their stuff, 900,000 bushels of wheat sit in silence, bringing in a monthly rental of $1,700, more than the hockey club could collect.

Let's Give the Kids a Break

Baseball—And, speaking of baseball, the reason that 100 juvenile baseball players have been refused permission to play in Athletic Park on Friday nights is because the parks board claims it does not have sufficient funds to pay for a man to open the gate and fire the boiler. However, they could afford it if it was a revenue-producing event for which admittance charges were made. They said so in a letter to the league president. If those 100 kids are prevented from playing ball, someone should remind someone else that youngsters have a habit of growing up and becoming taxpayers with long memories.

And when the senior amateurs, who open their schedule today, pay a price for rental of the park, why do they have to pay an extra two bucks to rent the public address system in the press-box. Must they buy the park's services a la carte, after they have paid the cover charge?

Basketball—And Johnny Clark does say he might be interested in joining the Alberni Athletics next year, if there is no basketball of senior calibre in Victoria. John says he would like to play the second half of the season with the A's, if the arrangement could be worked out. The 1956 Olympic hoop team will be an all-star squad and, with Alberni, John might receive the recognition (missed in his years with Victoria) to earn him an Olympic bid. Few will deny that John is deserving.

Lacrosse—Don't put the balloon up too soon on the Victoria Shamrocks. They're tied for the league cellar but that's no reason to turn in your Shamrock Booster button. From here, it looks as if a couple of key men are not in shape and the majority of the team lacks that fine edge on shooting and passing that is called sharpness. The new substitution rule is not geared for players whose tails are inclined to drag in the fourth quarter so the players may have to drive themselves into condition out of sheer desperation.

If We May Butt in Again . . .

Mud-slinging—Oh, yes! we mentioned warm wind, such as emanated from the morning sheet earlier this week. What we mean is the private battle J.T. is waging with Dr. Frank Kenny of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, the one in which "outsiders" are not allowed to "butt in" on.

Well, if Dr. Frank Kenny blames the Shamrocks for ruining lacrosse by being too strong, as J.T. intimates, why is it that Dr. Kenny approved transfers for three players to the Irish. Had Dr. Kenny felt the Rocks were becoming a menace, he could easily have turned thumbs down on the transfers of Bradshaw, Dobbie and Landess.

Or, are we allowed to use logic in this argument. Hmm? Miscellany—Last week, a dangerous, scar-faced criminal escaped back east and was the object of a nation-wide dragnet. In Victoria this week, a citizen spotted a husky man walking down the street, his face obscured by strips of adhesive tape. The citizen informed the police that the escaped desperado was loose in Victoria.

Who was the desperado? He was no one else but Constable Bill Mayzes in plainclothes. How had his face become so beat-up that he looked like a criminal? Well, Bill is coach of a minor league baseball team and he caught a bad-bounce grounder on the end of his bugle.

Horses He Knows, But Kids!

NEW YORK (AP) — Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, 80-year-old horse trainer who missed taking his fourth Kentucky Derby when Swaps beat the favored Nashua Saturday, never lets anything upset his sense of humor.

Mr. Fitz, who often has said we'll win our share and lose them, too," disclosed at a testimonial dinner that he was training 60 horses at Aqueduct race track.

"I have 17 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren," he added. In reply to a question, he said: "Gosh, no, I don't know all of them." Then, as the diners laughed, he added:

"But, I know the names of all 60 of my horses, and their breeding."

VIENNA (AP) — Austria and England Friday tied, 1-1, after the first two single matches of a Davis Cup second round.

British tennis champion Tony Mottram defeated Austrian champion Franz Skok, 10-8, 6-2, 6-4. Austria's Fred Huber beat Roger Becker of England, 6-4, 9-7, 6-4, 6-4.

Hagels, Vets Settle for Tie

Hagels and ANAF of Lower Island Juvenile Baseball League fought to a seven-inning 3-3 tie at Athletic Park Friday night.

Bud Brice of Hagels and Don McIntosh of ANAF hooked up in a tight pitching duel, Brice allowing but four hits and striking out 12, while McIntosh being nicked for six hits and striking out eight.

Max Grund with two hits in four trips for Hagels was the best man at the plate.

Don's Press Contingent Offers Him Little Hope

LONDON (AP)—Three British sports writers, stunned by the spectacle of Rocky Marciano at work, concluded Friday that Britain's Don Cockell has little chance of beating the heavyweight champion Monday.

Cockell Denied 20-Foot Ring

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Rocky Marciano and Don Cockell of England finished training today for Monday night's heavyweight title fight and a poll of California's five-man boxing commission confirmed that they would use a 16½-foot ring at Kezar stadium.

The first three votes received were against attempting to change to a larger 20-foot ring, requested by John Simpson, manager of fast-footed Cockell. The other votes are expected to go the other way.

The commission members said it would be impossible to change from the 16½-foot ring, already erected at Kezar stadium, to the 20-foot requested by manager Simpson in less than a week or 10 days.

Before yesterday's clarification session, manager Simpson had threatened to appeal as high as to President Eisenhower if Cockell was denied the 20-foot ring. But later he said, "Well, I guess there's nothing we can do but fight in the 16-foot."

Growing angrier by the hour, Simpson said: "I'll let the American public be the judge of whether Don got a square deal from the commission."

Inter-Municipal Committee To Study Elk-Beaver Issue

Saanich Council will have some say in development of the Beaver-Elk Lake area as a recreation area and possible race track site following city council action Friday.

Council referred the matter to Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee for study and formulation of a master plan suitable to both municipalities. Only dissenter to the motion was Mayor Claude Harrison who warned:

"You are tying your hands." His warning came after council also voted down an attempt to reintroduce a by-law which would permit leasing of lake lands to the Island Turf Club Ltd. for a $350,000 track development.

It was the second time the motion had been defeated in two council meetings. According to procedure by-law, the matter cannot be brought up again in its present form for a year.

SURMOUNT RULE However, city hall officials feel changes, which will be necessary in the draft agreement before council will fully support it, will surmount that rule.

The 80-acre watershed area is city-owned but lies completely in Saanich. Island Turf Club Ltd., a Vancouver firm wants to build a race track there and has offered Victoria an $800-a-year rental.

Last council meeting a motion to sign the lease with the Turf Company was narrowly defeated. Friday, the mayor suggested the matter be reconsidered.

SUITABLE SOLUTION Ald. W. F. Pinfold said that in view of the correspondence on the matter he would move it all be referred to the Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee for a recommendation which would be suitable to both city and Saanich.

Ald. Robert Macmillan supported the move. Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow asked an amendment to give further consideration to immediate introduction to the lease bylaw. Ald. Don Smith agreed.

Ald. Millard Mooney said he favored the Capital Regional Planning Board suggestion. He said he was not against a race-track but he did not think council should oppose the CRPB and the Saanich Council.

DICTATORSHIP He agreed Victoria has the right to use its own property in any way council sees fit but he said that to do so against the wishes of neighboring Saanich would be "dictatorship." He called for a meeting with Saanich Council, but no one would second his motion.

Ald. Arthur Dowell felt a meeting with Saanich the first necessity.

The mayor called for a vote to reconsider the lease by-law immediately and it was defeated by a five-four margin. Aldermen Macmillan, Pinfold, Dowell, Mooney and Austin Curtis opposed him.

Ald. Curtis said he supported the motion to hear from the Saanich Beaches and Parks committee.

"If the people of the proposed track area have expressed opposition, we should listen to them," he stated.

"You're a member of the Saanich-Victoria Beaches and Parks committee," Ald. Macmillan told the mayor. "It's up to you if any hands are tied."

City and Saanich each has four members.

UBC GRADUATE with second class honors in English and psychology is Marilyn Richards, 22, of 1226 Tattersall Drive. She will receive her bachelor of arts degree next Tuesday. Before going to UBC she took two years here at Victoria College. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Richards. Mr. Richards for years was secretary to former premiers John Hart and Byron Johnson.

Saanich Hits At Non-Permit Oil Burners

Saanich fire authorities will follow the lead of Langford and Colwood and halt illegal oil burner installations by drying up the source of fuel.

Fire Chief Joseph Law announced today any fuel truck driver who sells oil for use in an unauthorized burner will be brought to court when proof is obtained.

He said a recent drive by the fire marshal's office in the Langford-Colwood area resulted in seven drivers being fined.

Since then "Many unauthorized installations have been brought to light in the municipality of Saanich," he added.

He said that Saanich fire department will take similar legal action.

So many disastrous fires start from faulty oil burners that fire laws throughout B.C. call for residents to take out permits before installing oil burners. After the permit is issued an official inspection takes place.

Even if the installation is completely safe, if there has been no permit issued, the owner is acting contrary to law.

Former Premier Slightly Better

Former B.C. Premier Byron I. Johnson was reported today sufficiently improved to be moved from Royal Jubilee Hospital to his Beach Drive home. Mr. Johnson, stricken three weeks ago, is still not permitted to receive visitors.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

You knew it all the time, didn't you? Of course you did. "HWP" stands for "High Whistle Pat." And it is the sure, certain, never-failing way to tell the difference between Princess Marguerite and Princess Patricia.

Now, knowing that "HWP" stands for "High Whistle Pat," you know at a glance the picture below

... is NOT of Princess Patricia. Therefore, it is a picture of Princess Marguerite.

"High Whistle Pat," you see, has the whistle on each funnel entirely within the black band, "Maggie," on the other hand, has her whistles mounted half in the black band, half on the buff.

Therefore, Patricia's whistles are higher, and now you'll never forget, will you?

The reason for "HWP," incidentally, is to aid memory. Before "HWP" I could never remember which ship had the high whistles, which the low.

Then, one day, a kindly CPR policeman let me in on his secret. He suggested I associate Patricia with "High Whistle Pat"—hence, HWP for High Whistle Pat. And I've been able to tell the two ships apart at a glance, ever since.

A valuable accomplishment, no doubt, and one that will be a great comfort in my declining years.

As for the constituents who sent in their identifications of the photo, 47 correctly said "Marguerite," 24 guessed Patricia. But of the 47 calling the shot correctly, not all had the right season, and nobody identified "HWP."

Well, thanks for all the letters and cards. I will now retire to a quiet cove beside the seashore to dream up a suitable reward for those who were right.

A spanking new 21-foot cabin cruiser floated in the waters of Inner Harbor today, product of the spare-time work of a Victoria man and his wife. She is the Maggie G., built over a three-year period by Roy Webb, 1450 Clifford Street, aided by his wife, Vera.

Construction will start immediately on a two-storey block containing seven apartments with a store underneath near Estevan Avenue and Dunlevy Street, it was learned today. Estimated cost is $40,000. Owner will be M. Harris of Calgary.

Architects of the building of concrete block, are James Polson and Siddall.

A 10-year-old lad who liked water enough to plunge into the Empress Hotel pool this week week has no further worries—he's got a six-month pass to the Crystal pool.

Dennis Malin, 225 Quebec Street, who made his historic water debut because "I didn't have the price for the Crystal pool," had the pass given him by a local electrical firm today.

Now he'll really be in the swim, inside, this time.

Charge of exceeding a 50 mph speed limit brought a fine of $40 and $3 costs for George William Friend, Metehosin, when he appeared in Colwood RCMP court today.

RCMP said he was recently paced at speeds from 75 to 80 mph.

Ronald George Genis, Metehosin, was fined $25 and $3 costs in Colwood RCMP court today when he appeared on a charge of starting a fire without a permit.

RCMP said the fire was started on Genis' property. Fire got out of control and spread over one-quarter of an acre.

Truck driver Peter George L. Anderson, 180 Durance Road, was fined $10 and $3.50 costs in Colwood RCMP court today on a charge of failing to give a signal before turning.

Charge of driving without glasses contrary to a license restriction brought a fine of $25 and $3 costs for Owen Gordon Sutton, 1655 Hampshire, in Colwood RCMP court today.

Fine of $50 and $5 costs was imposed on Joseph Alexander Daunhauer, 1340 Craigflower, when he appeared in Colwood RCMP court today charged with driving while his license was suspended.

1,000 Men, Including Kilted Scottish, In Athletic Park Parade Sunday

First concentration of all sub-units of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) will be seen by Victorians at Royal Athletic Park Sunday at 2 p.m. when Maj.-Gen. Christopher Vokes, CB, CBE, DSO, CD, makes the annual inspection of 25 Militia Group.

The Scottish will form nearly half the 1,000 men of militia units which will go on parade.

It will also be the first time the famous Victoria regiment has paraded in the kilt since reauthorization early this year.

ADAM COMMANDER

A third first is the fact that this inspection, to which the general public is invited, will be the first general one since formation of the group under Brig. John S. Adam, who will act as parade commander.

With Gen. Vokes general officer commanding Western Command headquarters, will be three of his staff officers and B.C. area commander Brig. George Kitching, CBE, DSO, CD.

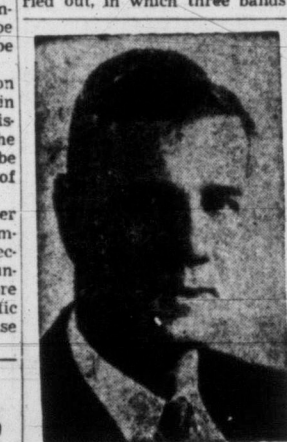

Accompanying Brig. Kitching will be his aide-de-camp Lieut. C. B. Snider, MC, of 1st Battalion, PPCLI, and G2 Maj. J. G. Sharpe, RCA.

NINE UNITS

Nine units, plus cadets and CWAC's, will take part in the parade which forms at 1.15 Sunday in the park. The general salute will be taken by Gen. Vokes at 2 p.m.

A march-past will then be carried out, in which three bands

CHURCH PAGE

Last week produced one of those incidents that discredits organized warfare agencies and proves—as a periodic proof seems to be needed—that nothing in human relations can supplant the kindness of a neighbor.

A busy father, whose job calls him out at almost any hour of day or night, was confronted with an emergency when his wife was ordered to hospital for a minor but very necessary operation.

What to do about the children? On an hour's notice there seemed no hope of employing someone on a round-the-clock basis for possibly a week, but friends rallied around to point out that agencies exist to cope with precisely that sort of situation.

The phone was kept busy for two hours as one after another of the well-publicized, publicly-supported bodies were contacted. And one after another they failed the test.

An organization whose specific job is family welfare just had nobody available; a charitable nursing service offered only that—nursing, which this wasn't, exactly; a church welfare officer tried valiantly but was unable to produce anyone ready to give 24-hour service.

The situation deteriorated rapidly. Leads ran out, and those who were so confident that community service could do the job began to lose that confidence.

What happens? A neighbor stepped in, one who lived several miles away and had a family of her own. Some of her little ones she brought with her, the older ones were left to look after their dad, but the emergency was met quickly, adequately, and with so little fuss that it appeared the most natural thing in the world.

The moral? Well, there are some things that just can't be bought, not even by Community Chest donations. And there are some services which can be given by humble neighbors with no resources, that are just about priceless.

Organized welfare does a job, and a good job, but a million-dollar budget can't buy a neighbor.

There is no bulwark against individual hardship and suffering that can compare with the heart and spirit filled with the 11th commandment—Christ's commandment: "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

ONE OF THE CITY'S smaller congregations has asked the Church Page to issue an appeal for a used organ for the church parlor. The W.A. is willing to buy such an instrument, but if one can be secured as a gift the limited funds available will be used for other much-needed improvements to the church plant.

The earth has an area of 196,840,000 square miles, of which 35,885,000 square miles are land and 141,055,000 square miles are water.

Florence Nightingale Tributed by Nurses

Victoria nurses will commemorate the birthday of Florence Nightingale when the Registered Nurses' Association will attend services in Christ Church and St. Andrew's Cathedral Sunday evening.

The recent graduates of St. Joseph's School of Nursing will join other city nurses. All will attend in uniform and it is expected that Christ Church will see over 100 at the service.

Florence Nightingale, whose innovations in nursing during the Crimean War revolutionized the theory of nursing and had a tremendous impact upon the practice of medicine, was born on May 12, 1820, and it is the custom among nurses to renew her memory on the closest Sunday to that date.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Wonder Cottons Resemble Authentic Oil Paintings

By PENNY SAVER

Every day I'm a little more amazed at the things the manufacturers can do with cottons. While shopping this morning, I saw what appeared to be a brocade-type material skirt. Around the circular skirt was a floral effect that looked like real oil painting against a rich cream-buff background. On a closer inspection, I discovered that the material was "old stand-by" cotton, and the oil painting was a cleverly shaded pattern in the cloth. On the mannequin it was teamed with a shell pink blouse to bring out the pinks of the pastel flowers. The outfit looked so very smart it was receiving more than passing glances of admiration.

The skirt is selling at $6.98, and is a wonderful buy. You'll be able to wear it all summer long.

Another item that's a summer "must" is an attractive pair of slacks. There's a new material and style in town now, and it's becoming more and more popular. The slacks have an adjustable waistband, so the problem of buying just the right size is minimized. There are attractive tucks in the front and two pockets. The most amazing part of all, though, is the construction of the bottoms of the trouser legs. There are no cuffs, only the straight material, so that you can adjust the length to suit yourself. No, there's no sewing involved! Just turn the hem up around the bottom to the desired length and press with a hot iron.

An adhesive material around the bottom attaches the two pieces of cloth, and cleaning, washing and ironing won't remove it. These are the most versatile and up-to-date slacks I've seen. Another pleasing feature about them is that you'll have no worries about keeping a crease in them, 'cause the crease is stitched in. The wonder-cloth is soft and crease-resistant, mothproof and hard-wearing. It's an acetate-viscose mixture. The price is wonderfully low, too. Just $8.98 a pair, in charcoal, blue and grey.

Still putting around in your garden on week-ends and after work? If you're one of the many who are in fear of the local dogs or children running across your newly-planted patch, you need worry no longer, 'cause I've found just the thing for you.

Sectional wire trim fences about 15 inches high are selling at a local nursery. Just stick the wire ends into the ground, attach one section to another with a rod, and make the protective fence as long as you need it by merely adding another section. It's painted green to blend in with the rest of the yard. For $1.85 you can buy 10 feet of fencing, which is about 10 sections.

Call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where to find the items mentioned here.

To Model Summer Fashions

Mrs. Newton Cameron is convener of the informal showing of summer fashions sponsored by the Junior Auxiliary to the Royal Jubilee Hospital and to be presented in the Douglas Room at the Hudson's Bay next Monday and Tuesday afternoons at 2.30 p.m. Mrs. James Burchett, Mrs. F. ## Repeat Wedding Vows in Sooke Presbyterian Church

SOOKE—One of the season's loveliest weddings took place recently in Knox Presbyterian Church, Sooke, when Rev. R. Lyttle united in marriage Lorraine Ellen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Duncan, and Charles Robert Helme, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Helme. The bride was dressed in nylon tulle and Chantilly lace in bouffant style, with a fitting lace jacket and her fingertip veil falling from a Juliet cap trimmed with seed pearls.

She carried a white prayer book with a spray of lily of the valley and wore a pearl necklace, gift of the groom.

Miss Joan Crawford, Victoria, was maid of honor, and the bride's sister, Miss Dianne Duncan, was bridesmaid. They wore similar dresses of embossed nylon over taffeta in blue and pink, respectively, and carried bouquets of carnations and stephanotis, with matching flower headresses. Six-year-old Barbara Helme, niece of the groom, as flower girl wore yellow organza and carried a colonial bouquet of sweet peas and roses.

Richard Helme was best man for his brother, and ushering the guests were Mr. Robert Martin and Mr. Larry Rumsby. Mrs. R. Piercy sang "I'll Walk Beside You" during signing of the register.

Reception for 200 guests was held at the Chez Marcel, where Albert Wilson, proposed the toast to the bride. For a wedding trip to the mainland the bride chose a going-away costume of soft grey blue suit, pink straw hat and white accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Helme will make their home in Sooke.

Pick a print this spring from the many pretty ones. Then tame it with accessories in subdued colors that chime in with a color in the print itself.

In Step With Style

By NONA DAMASKE

Thirty Years of Hosiery History—This year Supersilk celebrates its 30th anniversary in the manufacture of hosiery and the 15th anniversary of the advent of nylon hose.

In 1925 the well-dressed woman wore 14-thread, circular-knit silk hose with a mock seam. The feet of these hose had an almost square appearance and as no dye was used the color was an off white. In 1928 there was a great improvement in the fit with the introduction of full fashioned hosiery. Dye was added this year also and the color was more flesh toned.

In 1940 after months of intensive study, careful planning and extensive publicity hosiery history was made by the introduction of nylon. The first nylons were well made and looked attractive on the leg but it is a safe bet that the first results, although considered mighty good in those days, wouldn't create much enthusiasm if you had to wear them today.

The sale of silk stockings dropped as the production of nylons increased. Unfortunately, however, this growth was destined to have a tragic interruption. In December, 1941, came the attack on Pearl Harbor. The United States government needed all the raw silk for parachutes and other war purposes. Through the years 1942 and 1943 a combination of rayon and cotton was used and, believe me, this was a let down after having been teased with the sheerness of nylons. However, by 1944 the scene began to brighten . . . a finer all-rayon stocking was being sold and in 1945 small quantities of nylon were released to the hosiery mills.

By 1949 we were able to buy 51-gauge 15-denier which were just like a cob-web . . . aptly named "Whisper" by the Supersilk Company. The shopper could now also specify a short, medium or long hose. Whole new ranges of shades were introduced each season to co-ordinate with the dictates of the current fashion designers.

Whisper new Stetchon nylons in short, medium and tall are Supersilks latest innovation. They fit to your leg like a second skin.

THE QUESTION BOX

Dear Mrs. C.C.: In answer to your inquiry about "Mitin" I find it is a trade name for durable moth-proofing. The process was perfected by a Swiss company after it had created some 88,000 individual chemicals in search of an effective moth remedy. Mitin is applied to the fabric at the mill just like a dye and each garment made from this fabric is labeled with the Mitin trade mark.

Dear Judy: The swatch of your dress fabric is very beautiful and if it is at all possible I would suggest you buy satin semi-high heel shoes and have them tinted to match the blue flower in your dress fabric. Tinting is not expensive and it does give that extra touch to have the correct shade of dance slipper.

Fifty Years of Wedded Life

Mr. and Mrs. James Fenerty quietly celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at their home, 1784 Denman Street, last Tuesday. They were married in Victoria at "Breadalbane," on Fort Street, the home of the officiating minister, Dr. Campbell. The bride and groom of 50 years ago have lived all their married life in Victoria. They have one daughter, Miss Hazel Fenerty, living at home.

Tonight's Bride Honored

Miss Ruby-Lee Cooley, who is to be married tonight, was honored when Mrs. G. H. Long, 1480 Derby Road, entertained at a miscellaneous shower. A corsage of pink carnations was presented to the guest of honor. Gifts were concealed in a wishing well topped with "Cupid," having as its background a table centred with a dainty bride-doll flanked by vases of gay spring flowers. Games were played and refreshments were served. Mrs. P. Cooley, Courtenay, and Mrs. James Walker, mothers of the couple, and 18 guests were present.

A miscellaneous shower complimenting Miss Ruby-Lee Cooley was given by Mrs. C. T. L. Wigley and Mrs. M. Didden at the former's home, 2316 Lee Avenue. There were colorful corsages of polyanthus for the bride-to-be, her mother and grandmother, Mrs. P. Cooley, and Mrs. G. Rumble, who had come from up-island for the party. A basket decorated in mauve, yellow and pale green held the gifts. Contests were played and a buffet supper was served by the hostess. A crystal bowl of daffodils and polyanthus in mauve tones formed an attractive centerpiece for the table lighted by yellow and green candles in crystal holders. The iced shower-cake was cut by Miss Cooley. The guests also included Mrs. M. Porter, Mrs. J. Smith, Mrs. G. Reed, Mrs. F. McConnell, Mrs. E. Gordon, Mrs. M. Donohue, Mrs. P. McKenzie, Mrs. F. ### Floral Setting At Spring Tea

The Mural Room at the YMCA was fragrant with a profusion of spring flowers, including dogwood sprays, from the garden of Mrs. E. M. Tomlin, when the "Y" Ladies' Auxiliary held its spring tea earlier this week. A sum of $130 was realized.

The lace-covered tea table was centred with a large bowl of multi-colored tulips. Mrs. P. A. Gibbs, Mrs. J. L. W. McLean, Mrs. F. E. H. James and Miss Kathleen Agnew presided.

Guests were received by the president, Mrs. F. S. Appleton, and the general convener, Mrs. G. M. Duncan. Mrs. H. L. Campbell arranged the program that included solos by Miss Janet Swetnam, accompanied by Mrs. Roberto Wood.

Refreshment details were in charge of Mrs. H. Fielder; cashiers were Mrs. R. Parfitt and Mrs. J. T. Jones; decorations were arranged by Mrs. C. C. Annett. Proceeds will be used for house and dormitory supplies at the YMCA.

Women Have Long Way Yet To Equality

TORONTO (CP) — Madame Pierre Casgrain, who led the fight for women's suffrage in Quebec, told the Toronto Women's Canadian Club Monday there was much to be done before women there have equality before the law.

"An amendment to the Civil Code allows married women to sign contracts," she said, "except in 178 instances."

"Happily married women do not care they go ahead and sign things and let their husbands straighten it out." The unhappy married women were afraid to do anything.

Margaret Eva Roach Wed In Ceremony This Morning

Pink tulips, bluebells and white snapdragons formed the floral setting in Queen of Peace Church for a wedding this morning which united in marriage Margaret Eva Roach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Roach, Rosetown, Sask., and Timothy Harder, son of Mrs. Catherine Harder, Le Roy, Sask., and the late Mr. Nathaniel Harder. Rev. Fr. L. McLellan performed the nuptial mass, assisted by altar boys, Martin Mumford and Jimmy Lynch.

The bride wore a white lace and net bridal gown, with a pearl dotted peplum and strapless bodice. A matching lace jacket with Peter Pan collar and long sleeves tapering into lily points topped her gown. Her waist-length veil of illusion net was held by a coronet of pearls. Lily of the valley, centred with a white orchid, made up her bouquet.

She was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Larry K. Lynch. Mrs. J. J. Comerford sang "Ave Maria," and "On This Day," during the ceremony.

Bridesmaid Miss Marion Roach, the bride's sister, wore a shrimp shaded net over satin strapless gown with matching stole and gloves. She carried a

Sunday Will Be His Name Day

Sister Rae, three and a half years, is very proud of her baby brother, 10½ months, who will be named Ian in a ceremony in St. Alban's Church on Sunday at 2 p.m. Rev. W. E. Greenhalgh will officiate and godparents will be Mr. Philip Palmer and Mrs. Cathy Hardy. Parents of the children are Mr. and Mrs. K. P. Walters, 941 McKenzie Street.

Christ Church Cathedral Scene of Afternoon Wedding

Miss Patricia Stewart Frejd entered Christ Church Cathedral this afternoon on the arm of her uncle, L. S. Nicks, to become the bride of Gerald Keith Gregg Shaw. Rev. G. W. Lang officiated for the daughter of Mrs. E. A. Frejd, 2817 Burdick, and the late Dr. Frejd, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Shaw, 2159 Central Avenue. Spring flowers were placed in baskets at the side altar of the cathedral where the young couple were wed. Graham Steed played organ selections.

The bride's gown was fashioned in princess style of lace over taffeta. The neckline was scooped, and long sleeves tapered into lily points at the wrists. A white band of net and lace dotted with seed pearls and iridescent sequins held her fingertip veil. Sweetheart roses, white snapdragons and lily of the valley were in her colonial bouquet. A single strand of pearls was her only jewelry.

Mrs. C. J. E. Brynjolfsson was matron of honor, and Miss Nancy Frejd the bridesmaid for her sister. They wore periwinkle blue nylon gowns in ballerina length with full skirts and cuffed scooped necklines. White shoes, gloves and periwinkle blue caps complemented their outfits. Their colonial bouquets were of white, mauve and pink sweet peas.

Best man was Ernie Alexander, while Robert Minnelly, of Vancouver, and Const. Terry Shaw, brother of the groom, Edmonton, ushered.

Spring flowers flanked the three-tier cake at a reception in Oak Bay Beach Hotel following the ceremony. A little vase of sweetheart roses and lily of the valley topped the cake. Dr. D. Berman proposed the toast.

A green tweed suit with navy accessories and a delicate gardenia corsage was chosen by the bride to travel south on the honeymoon trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaw will live at 930 Southgate when they return.

St. Mary's parish Women's Guild, Oak Bay, sewing meeting, Tuesday, 2:30 p.m. in hall.

For a honeymoon trip up-island, the bride donned a grey flecked suit with boxy jacket and pink accessories. Her corsage was the white orchid from the centre of her bridal bouquet. Mr. and Mrs. Harder will make their home in Victoria.

Teare-Braide Wedding Ceremony in Church of Our Lord This Afternoon

Penelope Ann Braide was a lovely picture as she entered the Church of Our Lord on the arm of her father this afternoon to become the bride of Lieut. Cmdr. David Edwin Teare, R.N. The wedding ceremony was conducted by Rev. Dr. T. G. Brown. Calla lilies, white snapdragons, white blossoms and yellow iris formed the floral background, and traditional organ music was played by J. Ingram Smith.

The bride is the daughter of Col. and Mrs. T. W. Braide, 1575 Despard Avenue. Her grandparents were the late Mr. and Mrs. David Ker, early residents of Victoria. The groom is a son of Mrs. Teare, London, Eng., and the late Col. R. V. Teare.

Delicate white lace was chosen by the bride for her wedding gown, which was styled on Princess lines with graceful gores of white silk in the ankle and length skirt. The bodice had a deep V-neckline and dainty short sleeves.

Her chapel veil of illusion net was held with a coronet of crystal and pearls lent by her aunt, Mrs. J. C. Hibbard. White iris and stephanotis formed her bridal bouquet.

Miss Joan Thatcher came from Vancouver to be maid-of-honor. Her street-length gown of green silk taffeta was in a similar style to the bride's, with softly-folded neckline. Sunset shades of gerbera were in her bouquet.

Best man was Lieut. Cmdr. Ivor H. Ash, brother-in-law of the groom. Brother of the bride, Mr. David Braide, and Mr. James Helmcken and Mr. George Nation ushered guests to their seats in the church.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Col. and Mrs. B. Russell

Ker, 1470 Rockland Avenue, when an all-white wedding cake, topped with a naval crown, was cut by the young couple with a naval sword. The bride's uncle, Rear-Admiral J. C. Hibbard, R.C.N., proposed the toast to her happiness.

Lieut.-Cmdr. and Mrs. Teare will spend a honeymoon week on the mainland. For her going-away outfit, Mrs. Teare chose a fine wool beige-toned suit with loose-fitting jacket and accessories of white and green. Her corsage was of miniature coral orchids.

In July they will go to Halifax and Bermuda to make their home.

Bride's Uncle Officiated At Double-Ring Ceremony

Dr. L. B. Henn officiated at a double ring wedding ceremony this afternoon in Fairfield United Church, when his niece, Miss Shirley Patricia Henn exchanged vows and rings with Donald Walter Brooks, of the RCAF station at Edmonton. Baskets of white tulips and narcissi were placed in the church.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Henn, 434 Richmond Avenue, wore a white gown of Chantilly lace over satin with fitted strapless bodice and shirred net at neckline. The floor-length skirt featured rows of tiny net ruffles.

A matching lace jacket had a Peter Pan collar appliqued with iridescent sequins and trimmed with loops of pearls and lily-point sleeves.

Her headress of starched net trimmed with pearls and tiny nylon net ruffles held a delicate fingertip veil of net. White carnations, red roses and lily of the valley were in her cascade bridal bouquet.

The bride's sister, Miss Lillian Henn, was maid of honor, in a spice-colored ballerina-length dress of lace, lined with taffeta. Lillian shoes and gloves matched, and a floral bandeau and colonial bouquet were of white daisies and blue iris. The bride's cousin, Miss Sheila Goodmanson, and Miss Wendy Fanning were also attendants, in ballerina-length gowns featuring tiered skirts. They were in mauve and yellow respectively. Gloves and shoes were en tone, and they wore bandeau and carried colonial bouquets of double narcissi.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brooks, Ganges, Salt Spring Island, had John Stewart as best man, and Richard Brooks, his brother, and George Henn, the bride's brother, ushered guests to pews marked with double white primroses and ribbons.

topped with miniature white bells and ribbons centred the bride's table at a reception in Loughheed's banquet hall, where Dr. Henn proposed the toast to the bride. White snapdragons and tulips formed the floral setting.

For a honeymoon trip on the Mainland, the bride chose a pink linen dress with white poodle-cloth shortie coat and pink straw hat, white gloves and navy shoes and purse. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds.

Mr. and Mrs. Brooks will make their home in Edmonton.

Dr. Carl to Speak At Canadian Club

Next meeting of the Women's Canadian Club will be held in the Crystal Ballroom at the Empress Hotel on Wednesday at 2:30 p.m., when Dr. Clifford Carl, popular director of the Provincial Museum of Natural History, will give an illustrated lecture on "Backyard Explorations." A clever and witty speaker, Dr. Carl recently completed an extensive lecture tour in the United States under auspices of the Audubon Society. A native of Vancouver, he received his BA and his MA degrees from the University of British Columbia and his PhD from Toronto University. New membership cards for the 1955-56 season will be available at the meeting.

Children's Ward Auxiliary, Royal Jubilee Hospital, Monday at 8 p.m., in nurses' home.

The Times Wild Flower Coloring Contest

Here is the sixth picture in an interesting contest for children of all ages. Not only will those who like coloring enjoy it, but they will also learn something about the wild flowers which abound in the southern Vancouver Island area.

CONTEST RULES

Clip the attached sketch of a flower.

You are then to find out what the natural coloring of the flower is. You may go into the country to find the flower in its natural setting; or you may see the flowers on display in the Provincial Museum when they are in season.

Color your flower in crayon, pastel or other medium.

When you have a collection of four flowers covering one month's entries mail them to "Flower Coloring Contest, Victoria Daily Times, 2631 Douglas Street, Victoria."

Entries may be mounted on cardboard if so desired.

Children competing for the prizes in the older group may do replicas of the design in water or oil paints if they wish. Send the following form with your entry:

Name _____

Age _____

Address _____

PRIZES

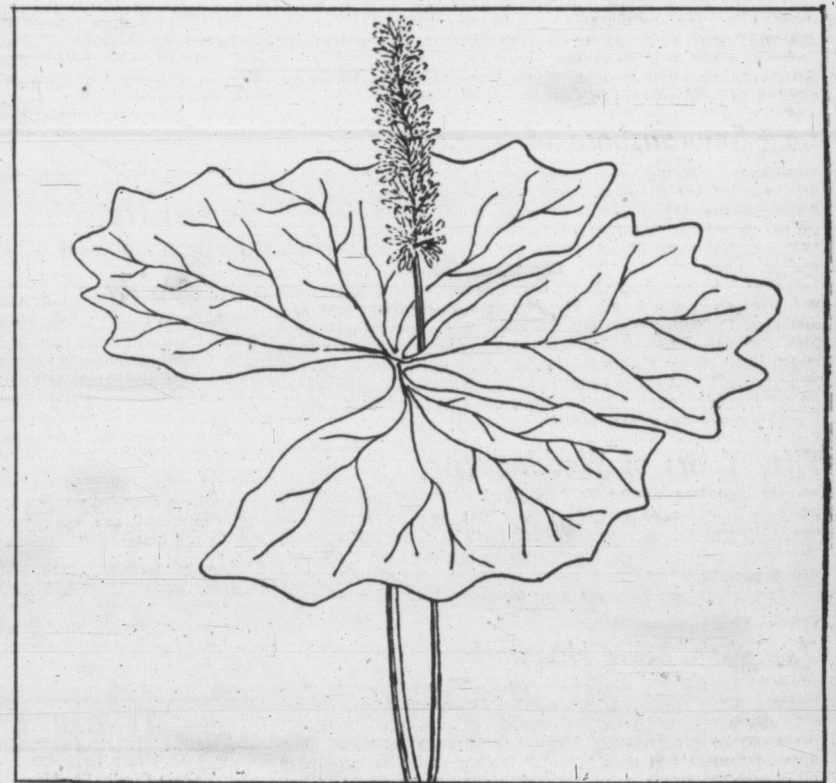

Judging will be done in three groups according to age:
1. 8 years and under.
2. 8 to 12 years.
3. Over 12 years.

Each month the entries will be judged by the Women's Committee of the Victoria Symphony Society.

The three best groups of four in each age group will be awarded certificates of proficiency.

The winning entries in each group each month will then be eligible to compete for the grand prizes at the end of the contest.

The grand prize winners will receive recognition by medal, with a cash award for the top prizewinners. Grand prize win-

VANILLA LEAF

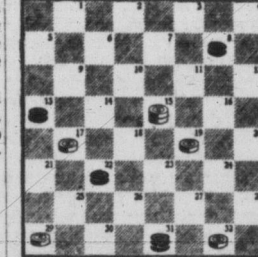

Vanilla leaf isn't a showy wallflower but it is very common and has so many interesting features that it should be known. Look for it in open Douglas fir forests on the outskirts of Victoria. The Sooke, Langford and Cadboro Bay districts have it in abundance.

The strange game arouses interest as do such other names as Sweet-after-death. Butterflies and May leaves. Because the leaves contain a certain oil they give off a slightly sweet sickish perfume, but only when the leaves are wilting or dry. If the central leaf of the three-leaved plant is cut off the remaining two look like a very large butterfly. A substitute for vanilla has been extracted from the leaves and a bundle of dried leaves hung in a room is supposed to keep out flies. So you see that this curious plant with all its peculiar features is one you should know and be able to remember very easily. The large leaves are held on a thin wiry stem. After they have formed, a second stem starts to grow and pokes its way very accurately between two lobes of the leaf. This may grow over a foot in height. The top two inches produce a fuzzy mass of small flowers which soon disappear. If you study a flower closely you will find it hasn't either sepals or petals. Botanical name: Achlys triphylla.

IT'S YOUR MOVE

By MILLARD HOPPER

It's easy to be misguided in this one so here's a clue intended to keep you on the right path: White aims to project his king on square 15 and thereby annihilate Black in four moves. White, moving up the board, moves first.

THE LYONS' DEN

Beautiful Land of Manana Mixes Emotions of Traveler

In a trailer he had designed for the purpose C. P. Lyons of Victoria, his wife and young daughter, Susan, recently left Victoria headed for Mexico and way points. The idea of the trailer was to provide a mobile home for the family for the Victoria Daily Times on their year-long adventures as they head for Mexico.

Although still 100 miles from the Mexican border the "manana" or "tomorrow" philosophy has long ago taken hold on the activities of our caravan. Tomorrow is always the time to make up for the vagrancies of today. Apropos to this a garageman on the coast of California summed it up by "There's two distinct types of travellers, one comes in here thoroughly enraptured about the beauties of the sea-coast drive, the other only bellyaches about how the twisting road shattered his 400-mile-a-day average."

And surely there is no lovelier drive than the 138 miles along this portion of obscure Highway No. 1. From Monterey, through picturesque Carmel, and along the ocean beaches and cliffs to San Luis Obispo there is every fascinating type of ocean front scenery. Curving beaches, great headlands and rocky isles battered by foaming green rollers, placid lagoons, twisted cypress groves and the fresh green of pastoral hillsides combine in an out-of-this-world spectacle.

Further south there is a transition to agriculture, industry, and settlement with the best beaches being held in parks. It still shocks a Victorian to find that people can, and do, camp at this time of the year and that beach loungers are as "brown as berries." Trailerites, mostly retired people, move from one beach park to another as fancy dictates, in as close to an idyllic existence as one can imagine.

These coastal waters are home to the abalone, a large shell fish brought up by divers. The pure white steaks are spoiled if cooked more than 50 seconds. The price spoils them for most people in the first place.

NO PARKING

Los Angeles with its 2,000,000 people and close to as many cars has progressed so progressively there is absolutely no parking allowed on downtown streets.

Paralleling "through" highways or freeways move the speeding masses and freight from one key area to another.

The problem of how to get on and off the freeways is so complex that special maps are distributed. These crafty diagrams remind one of the school text drawings of the blood system with a skein of veins, arteries and arrows apparently intermingled in hopeless confusion.

One tourist swears he was ever four hours finding his way to the police station after being given a ticket for some minor traffic infraction.

BARE FEET

But one significant social trend was noted. It may herald the start of a new era—a return to the more stable community of yesteryear. A well-pod and attractive girl was walking with perfect dignity along one of the principal streets. She was in her bare feet! Two blocks away a fine specimen of manhood was seen in his bare feet! What's more, no one paid any attention to them.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

Dime Parking Plan Rejected

Installation of 10-cent, half-hour parking meters on Broad Street was suggested by Ald. Millard Mooney Friday at city council meeting but no one would second his motion.

He received support of Ald. Brent Murdoch, but only on the basis of a five cent, half-hour charge.

There was some scoffing and voices were raised after Ald. Mooney's suggestion was read as a letter to council.

"Move it received and filed," said Ald. Robert Macmillan.

TALK, TALK, TALK
But Ald. Mooney objected violently.

"Talk, talk, talk but no action. It's time we had some action on traffic or we are going to have a bottleneck," he charged.

Presenting a petition supporting his meter boost, he said, "The citizens of Broad Street have signified they want to do something."

He said he had tried to bring the matter up in public works committee but it "fell on deaf ears."

Ald. Arthur Dowell, public works chairman, said it hadn't been discussed at public works meetings and moved the matter be referred to his committee.

Public works committee recently heard a brief submitted by the chamber of commerce, aimed at improving parking in the city, and promised to come up with some answers in 30 days.

CHANGES DUE
Council ruled Ald. Mooney's project would be considered in committee before that time.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow agreed some changes were due in Broad Street parking.

For instance, he said, Eaton's on Saturday does not appear to use the large area reserved for a loading zone. But he said council should not act hastily.

Ald. Macmillan moved Ald. Mooney's plan be received and filed because "it is so completely childish."

Later Ald. Edgelow called for a meeting of council with civic affairs committee of chamber of commerce and all other groups interested in parking improvement. The meeting suggestion was tabled until the public works report is received by council.

City council was notified Friday of a Union of B.C. Municipalities' convention at Prince George, October 5, 6, 7, but no decision was made on participation. The letter was received and filed.

Police commission, chaired by the mayor, informed council no reason had been given for the conciliation board majority.

On Tuesday, members of the Grand Black Chapter (Royal Black Knights of Ireland) will convene at the Orange Hall at 9 a.m.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning 3-0054.

WEEK-END CAMP SET BY YPU

The United Church Young Peoples' Union will hold a week-end camp May 20-23 at the George Pringle Memorial Camp at Shawnigan Lake.

Theme talk will be "Christian Resources for Contemporary Living" by Prof. Reg. Wilson, Union College, Vancouver.

Convener is Betty Ann Sutherland and discussion leaders Rev. E. Laura Butler, Rev. Tom Haythorne and Wilford Ireland.

400 Orangemen Coming Here For Convention

More than 400 Orangemen from all parts of B.C. will attend the 65th annual convention of the Grand Orange Lodge of B.C. next Wednesday and Thursday in Club Sirocco.

W. T. Daly, Vancouver, will end his two-year term as grand master and a new grand master will be elected, and convention will end with a banquet and dance Thursday in the Crystal Garden.

On Tuesday, members of the Grand Black Chapter (Royal Black Knights of Ireland) will convene at the Orange Hall at 9 a.m.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning 3-0054.

CUTTER WORKERS BACK VACCINE

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP)—Dr. Robert K. Cutter today staked the lives of his employees' children on the integrity of his 38-year-old laboratories' production of Salk polio vaccine.

The 629 employees in the Cutter laboratories here have shared this faith by having 465 of their children inoculated with the vaccine.

Shriners March In Vancouver Church Parade

The 22 officers of the Victoria Order of De Molay, together with approximately 20 local Shriners, will be in Vancouver Sunday to march in the Gizeh Temple church parade at which Imperial Potentate Frank S. Land of Kansas City, Mo., will participate.

The Order of De Molay here will send 22 young men, headed by chapter "dad," Dr. Gordon Grant.

Close to 500 men will make up the 10 colorful uniformed marching units. Parade will start at 2 p.m. and the church service at St. John's United at 2:30 p.m. Address to the congregation will be made by Mr. Land who founded the Order of De Molay for young men in 1919.

12 Indian Tribes To Invade Victoria

Big Festival May 22, 23 Features War Canoe Races, Field Sports, Dances

Twelve Indian tribes from Vancouver Island, the mainland and the United States have entries in Indian war canoe races to be held at the Victoria Indian Festival on May 22 and 23, it was announced today by Songhees Chief Percy Ross.

The winner will be awarded a trophy donated by Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace.

IN HARBOR

The 11-man war canoe race will start at 6 p.m. from Maple Bank Park, Admirals Road, site of the Indian festival. They will race in Esquimalt Harbor.

The program will start at 12:30 p.m. Sunday with field sports. At 3 p.m. ceremonial dances will be held to mark the crowning of an Indian queen and the christening of a papoose, the offspring of an Indian couple who were married at last year's festival.

WOMEN'S RACE
The water sports will start at 5 p.m. They will include single paddle and double paddle canoe races, mop fights and tip-overs. There will also be a women's canoe race with entries from several Indian bands.

One of the big attractions to take place at night will be a la-hal game, a guessing game, which is played to the beat of drums and the singing of songs. This will be conducted in the open field around camp fires.

The program will be repeated on Monday.

Chief Ross said the festival will be attended by representatives of several Indian bands of British Columbia. The various tribes, he said, will stage their own individual dances and songs at various ceremonies.

Refreshments will be available to visitors, Chief Ross said. The B.C. Electric Co. has also agreed to provide special transportation to and from Maple Bank Park.

Vancouver Island Viewpoint

From Up-Island Newspaper Editorial Columns

Expanding North Cowichan

THE COWICHAN LEADER

Inauguration of North Cowichan municipality's fourth fire department, with the arrival of its first truck, has coincided with the receipt by ratepayers of tax notices which grant for the most part healthy reductions from last year. The two events bear little relation to each other, but their coming together may indicate that in many respects North Cowichan is going to undergo a year of considerable expansion.

The evidence is at hand. The new Chemainus waterworks is a major undertaking and will become even larger when the municipality is able to reach a satisfactory agreement with the unorganized area of Saltair with this indispensable utility. Maple Bay is having a new waterworks installed. A water survey with a view to a new water system in the Lakes Road area, between Quamichan and Somenos, is looming as fresh evidence of expansion.

The municipality is a large area to administer. If rumored stories come, the growth of North Cowichan internally will be greatly accelerated. By its very nature it is a district municipality, too spread out and topographically unsuited to major urbanization. Prophecy is always hazardous, but it would seem that the present built-up areas are likely to prosper most from North Cowichan's development. This may lead to greater Duncan and Chemainus areas. Beyond that, we cannot see.

Ready to Serve the District

FAIRSVILLE-QUALICUM BEACH PROGRESS

The entire Parksville-Qualicum Beach district owes a debt of gratitude to a group of Qualicum Beach residents who have just completed a six-week civil defence instructors' course.

These men, who serve without pay, studied for two and a half hours each working night, the majority after completing a day's work at their regular occupations. They are now qualified to instruct others, and if they obtain the wholehearted co-operation of other residents of the district, this area should be well prepared for any defence emergency which may arise.

Can It Be True?

THE REVIEW, SIDNEY

Victoria wholesalers were under fire this week when a highly respected business man of the Gulf Islands was in discussion with The Review.

"Transportation schedules are changing all the time and in some ways it is more convenient for us to purchase our requirements in Victoria than in Vancouver," he declared. "But this is exceedingly difficult to do because of the attitude of some Victoria wholesalers."

The merchant went on at length. He told of buying visits to Vancouver. When he entered the establishments of Vancouver wholesalers, he maintained, salesmen came from every direction urging him to purchase heavily. He was given every courtesy and his business much sought after.

But when he went to Victoria, he maintained, the situation was very different. He found no salesmen in Victoria wholesale establishments. They were only order takers—and reluctant ones at that. He accordingly always made his purchases in Vancouver and he'll be reluctant to change unless he's forced to do so.

He told of being in a business place in Victoria and seeing the proprietor being positively discourteous to several customers. The proprietor explained that the customers which he upbraided were "from out of town" and he'd rather not have them around.

If our informant's story is a true one—and we have no reason to doubt his word—certain Victoria business men are losing Vancouver Island a great deal of business which would normally come this way.

Election May 19

Jordan River BCE Employee Awarded $100

JORDAN RIVER.—A constant hazard on the B.C. Electric narrow-gauge flume railway here—the breaking of switches by snowplows—has been overcome by Edwin "Ted" Banner, company maintenance man, with a $100 idea.

The railway serves the upper camps in the Jordan River watershed, and snow-plowing is a regular task in the winter. Just as regularly, though, the snowplow would hit the projecting top of switching mechanisms and either bend them or snap them off.

Mr. Banner set a short, sloping piece of rail into the ties beside the switch that will lift the plow high enough to clear the switching gear.

The company gave him $100 for his "gimmick," the largest amount ever authorized for a Vancouver Island employee of the company by the BCE suggestion awards committee.

Metchoin Farmers Will Meet Tuesday

LUXTON.—Films will be shown by the farmers' institute section of the agriculture department at the regular meeting of the Metchoin-Farmers' Institute Tuesday, at 8 p.m., in Luxton Hall.

T. Boyle will auctioneer at a sale on the afternoon of May 21, at the hall. It is hoped to have a good quantity of livestock and machinery on hand.

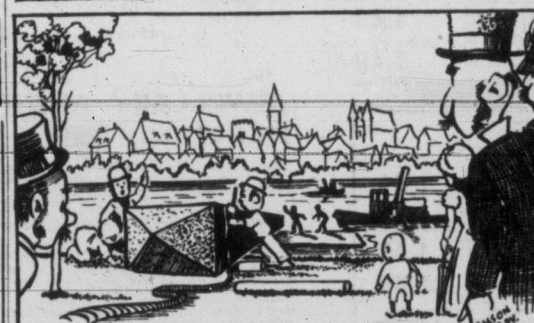

The annual institute picnic will be held August 7, at the South Vancouver Island Rangers' grounds, and the fall fair will be held August 27.

Courtenay Retailers Form Chamber Group

COURTENAY (CP).—Some 16 merchants of Courtenay have decided to form a retail merchants group, although it will not be affiliated with the Retail Merchants Association of British Columbia. The move to form an association came as a climax to a drive by the Chamber of Commerce.

Huge Shark Net Claimed Menace By Fishermen

KYUQUOT (CP).—Fishermen here have complained about an undersea obstruction reported six miles southwest of the Esperanza buoy in about 42 fathoms of water.

A warning to mariners has been issued by the department of transport at Esquwen Point. The obstruction, which fishermen believe is sunken nets lost by American shark fishermen during the winter, is about one mile long.

Librarians Start Annual Meeting At Qualicum

QUALICUM BEACH (CP).—Librarians from all parts of B.C. attended the opening today of the 44th annual convention of the British Columbia Library Association.

The convention continues through Monday, and will end with an informal visit to the new headquarters of the Vancouver Island Regional Library in Nanaimo.

Co-Operation Sought On Boundary Fires

BRENTWOOD.—Brentwood Women's Institute this week appointed Mrs. George D. Moody convener of the committee to judge school essays and posters on wild flower conservation, to be submitted in a competition closing May 24.

Miss E. Howard was appointed WI representative to attend the Royal Oak graduation exercises.

Arrangements were made for a speaker and discussion on family welfare and old age pensions at the June meeting.

On May 31 WI members will go on a conducted tour of the experimental farm at Saanichton.

Mrs. Marcel Savard Heads Altar Guild

CHEMAINUS.—Mrs. Marcel Savard has been elected president of St. Joseph's Altar Guild. Other officers elected were: Secretary, Mrs. C. M. Rainforth; treasurer, Mrs. H. O. Nichols; and Mrs. H. Galvin; church cleaning, Mrs. L. Gagnon.

Chemainus Kinettes Elect New Officers

Debtors Held In Duncan For 24 Hours

DUNCAN.—Two Duncan men, Ed Shearing and H. J. Mayea, spent 24 hours in jail this week for contempt of court in disobeying a small debts court judgment summons.

They were committed on order of Magistrate A. C. Sutton, and paid the accounts that gave rise to the case promptly when they appeared in court.

Magistrate Sutton told the two men the Small Debts Act provides up to 21 days in jail for the offence.

Also in court here was Edward Pollard, sentenced to a 14-day term for a second impaired driving offence. His driver's licence was suspended for three months.

A. A. Sayers was fined $150 on a charge of impaired driving.

Essay Contest Closes May 24

SAANICHTON.—Central Saanich Council has instructed the municipal clerk to contact Saanich regarding closer co-operation between fire departments on the boundary between the two municipalities.

Ross Leighton was appointed this week by the council to the Central Saanich town planning board.

An application by Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau for a grant was refused in view of the municipal policy to rule out all monetary grants.

WATER SAFETY CAMPAIGN STARTS MONDAY AT SIDNEY

SIDNEY.—Water Safety Week will be observed here May 16-22 under sponsorship of the Sidney Recreation Commission.

Posters have been distributed to stores, lodges and auto courts situated on or near the waterfront.

Mrs. Francis Spear is chairman of the Water Safety Week committee in this district, and can be contacted by local organizations interested in obtaining films or putting on safety displays.

The campaign is being held earlier this year so that a better job can be done in the schools. Much of the work in the schools will be handled through the education department and the Junior Red Cross.

High School Grounds Chosen For Nanaimo Sports Centre

NANAIMO.—Fourteen community organizations this week decided on development of Nanaimo Senior High School grounds as a 20-acre sports centre.

Recreation Commission here will arrange an agreement with the school board, and will ask the city council to use funds left over from the sale of the Central Sports Grounds some years ago for development of the site.

The sum of $22,000 will be spent on development of the grounds by the school board whether or not they are used by the recreation commission.

(The old Central Sports Ground, sold for $100,000, is now the site of the Simpson-Sears and Safeway shopping

Will St. George Be There?

Shaggy-headed king-sized "lion," here with young Dennis Yee, will perform intricate Chinese lion dance at two-day folk festival under way here May Day week-end. Two performances daily, May 21 and 23 at Central Junior High School, will feature Dutch music, Scandinavian choir, Italian, German and French folk songs as well as songs and dances of British Isles and other national groups. Handicrafts will also be shown. Performances will be in afternoon and evening, both days. (Times Photo.)

$6 Million Rebuilding Plan For Ottawa's Famed West Block

BILL McCOLL

BILL MAWHINNEY

B.C. TITLE AT STAKE

Two 'Bills' Primed For Golfing Battle

Championship golf takes the spotlight in the city Sunday with the inaugural B.C. match play open final scheduled at Victoria Golf Club.

Meeting in the 36-hole test are Vancouver's match-play champion, Bill Mawhinney, and the Vancouver Island titlist, Bill McColl.

The event, initiated by the Times, and to be co-sponsored on alternate years by the Times and the Vancouver Daily Province, will start with the first 18-hole round at 10 a.m., and the second 18 holes at 2 p.m.

HONEYMOON

Mawhinney, a professional, and former PNGA and Canadian Amateur champion, arrived in town early today following a week's honeymoon in the United States.

He had a practice round scheduled at Victoria Club this afternoon.

Although admitting that he hasn't played for a few days, he expressed the thought that his game "showed promise" in the Vancouver tournament which he won by defeating B.C. amateur champion Lyle Crawford in the finals, 4 and 3, two weeks ago.

Later this month he plans to enter a qualifying test for a place in the United States open championships scheduled for San Francisco Olympic Club in June.

TEAMMATES

Mawhinney and McColl were teammates on the 1949 British Columbia Willingdon Cup team, but have never met in competition.

Some odds-makers have made Mawhinney a favorite in—Vancouver he's a 2-1—but Victoria Club professional Phil Taylor stated today that, as far as he's concerned, it's even money and take your pick, especially as McColl is playing over a course he knows better than Mawhinney does.

Neither finalist was prepared to predict a triumph; rather both expressed the hope that they could be "as fortunate" as they have been in reaching the final.

Prize presentation will take place immediately following the match.

BY VICTOR MACKIE

Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—The near-century-old west block of the Parliament Buildings where once Sir John A. MacDonald had his prime ministerial offices, is to be completely rebuilt at a cost of between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000.

Hon. Robert Winters, minister of public works, disclosed Saturday that architects are now at work on plans for dismantling the old west block and its reconstruction in exact detail to preserve the appearance of the old structure.

REPRODUCTION

The present west block is to be reproduced "in" its every smallest detail and with all the loving care and attention we are capable of giving it," he said.

The minister added that because of the historical associations of the west block, one of three blocks constituting the Parliament Buildings on Parliament Hill in Ottawa, it had been necessary to study two proposals. One proposition would involve the renovation of the buildings, the others its complete reconstruction.

The minister said there was everything to commend the complete rebuildings of the west block. He indicated that the final decision would rest with the cabinet. Meantime, senior civil service executives in the west block have been informed that the building is to be completely reconstructed.

As it stands today it is the same thick-walled, high-turreted stone pile it was when Sir John A. moved in and occupied the offices now occupied, 88 years later by Hon. James Sinclair, minister of fisheries.

When Mr. Sinclair moved in three years ago, he found a darkened old stairway at the back of the old office. The old stairway was plugged with books and files.

Cleared out, it was discovered to be a secret back exit that Sir John used to slip down to escape unnoticed when his front offices were crowded with would-be visitors.

There will be new modern offices, well lighted and properly ventilated, with all the space utilized and occupied. Today the offices are difficult to adapt to modern conditions and there is much waste space, with the lighting conditions very poor.

Mystery Light Sparks Search By RCAF, RCMP

Mainland Flash Seen by Many at Campbell River

CAMPBELL RIVER—RCMP and RCAF today began an investigation into reports from residents here that a vivid flash of light was seen on a mainland mountainside north of here Friday night.

Observers today placed the location of the still-unidentified light as about 3,000 feet up the side of Estero Mountain, 6,050-foot peak about 35 miles north of here, and between Phillips Arm and Bute Inlet.

Several persons who saw the light, all reliable witnesses, said it was visible between 8:45 and 9 p.m.

SEEN THROUGH GLASSES

Ted Robson, working with the North-west Telephone Company, sighted it through binoculars, but was unable to identify it. Godfrey Baldwin, member of the Ground Observer Corps, notified RCMP, who in turn contacted John Perkins, observer on duty at the GOC observation post atop Campbell River Junior-Senior High School. Mr. Perkins was unable to make positive identification.

NO PLANES LOST

Mrs. Lloyd Leishmann, chief observer of the GOC here, notified the RCAF filter centre in Vancouver, on the chance that the light might have been a distress signal. She was told, however, that no aircraft had been reported missing.

Air-Sea Rescue was notified by the filter centre, but had no report to make on the mysterious flash. A search plane was reported late today to be continuing a search in the mountainous area.

SIMPLIFIED CALENDAR FEATURED IN WEEKEND

A description of the new calendar under consideration by the UN for world-wide adoption is carried in today's edition of Weekend Magazine. Advocates of the calendar, which divides the 365-day year into equal quarters, claim it will simplify the counting of days and do away with the necessity of memorizing jingles to remember the number of days in a month.

SAIGON SEETHING

'Stay Indoors' Europeans Told

(From AP and UP)

SAIGON, Indo-China—French troops sealed off Saigon's European sector today and warned all white residents to stay indoors because of expected anti-colonial demonstrations.

French expeditionary corps commander Gen. Paul Ely ordered his 40,000 battle-tested troops, backed by 400 tanks and armored cars, to smash any attempt at anti-European violence. The demonstrations were called for Sunday by the South Viet Nam revolutionary junta or committee. The eight-man group also was expected to call for immediate establishment of a republic.

The junta claimed the demonstration was not aimed against the French. But blaring sound trucks, circulated through Saigon and the streets of adjacent Cholon calling the 2,000,000 inhabitants to assemble in the market place at 9 a.m. Sunday to mark their hatred of colonialists and their puppet Emperor Bao Dai.

265 Red Divisions Lined Against West By Warsaw Treaty

(AP and UP Dispatches)

WARSAW—The Soviet Union and her seven European satellites today established a unified military command to rival the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and made Soviet Marshal Ivan Konev their supreme commander.

Russia and the satellite countries pledged friendship and mutual aid, lining up 265 Communist divisions against the West, which will have about 60 NATO divisions when West Germany is rearm.

Chinese Defence Minister Peng Teh Hual, an observer at the four-day treaty conference, hailed the signing and pledged the support of his nation's 600,000,000 people in the event of a war in Europe.

Konev, who has been deputy Soviet defence minister under Marshal G. K. Zhukov, will make his supreme headquarters in Moscow.

WEST GERMANY IS KEY

A preamble to the treaty declared that the eight countries decided to intensify their measures for defence in face of West Germany's admission to the Western alliance.

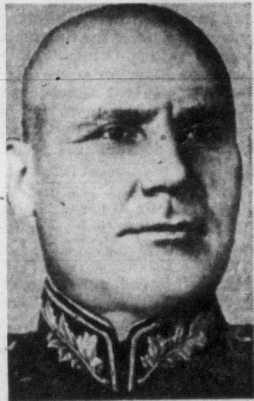

Immediately after the signing, East Germany's prime minister Otto Grotewohl declared that his government still stands for uniting Germany under peaceful conditions. He asserted that unification of Germany must automatically rescind any military commitment previously undertaken by either East or West Germany.

(West European diplomats believe the actual signing of the pact does not change the existing situation—the Russians have been in overall command of the military among their satellites for some time. But the pact gives the Russians a legal framework under which Soviet troops can remain in the satellite states through individual treaties between the USSR and each satellite country. Politically the Communist countries have been linked through the Cominform—the association dominated by the Soviet Union.)

3-Year-Old Killed In Fall From Car

LANGLEY, B.C. (CP)—Joyce Elaine Parker, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Parker of Mount Lehman, B.C., was killed Friday night when she fell from the rear seat of her parents' auto and fell under the wheels of a passing car.

RCMP said the rear door of the car swung open and the child fell out.

SOVIETS TRY TO WOO TITO FROM WEST?

Khrushchev Heads Belgrade Junket

BELGRADE (Reuters)—Yugoslavia has given firm assurances to the Western Allies that the surprise visit here of top Soviet leaders, announced Friday night, will not impair Yugoslav relations with the West, an authoritative source said today.

The United States, Britain, Turkey, France and Greece—three of whom give economic aid to Yugoslavia, while the other two are linked with her in the Balkan alliance—were given prior information of the announcement. The source said Yugoslav leaders regard the meeting as a chance to test future Russian intentions much in the same way as the western powers are making preparations to meet Soviet leaders with a similar objective.

The meeting with Yugoslav President Tito, due before the end of the month, will bring Premier Nikolai Bulganin, Nikita Khrushchev, Communist party chief, and other Kremlin leaders here. It will be the first of its kind since Tito broke with Moscow in 1948 and steered his own anti-Russian but nonetheless Communist path.

Soviet Agrees to Austria Peace, Risks Red Rollback in Europe

By signing an Austrian treaty of independence, the Soviet Union is taking a calculated risk. It could backfire to start a Russian rollback in Europe. This is the opinion of competent European sources close to the situation in the heart of the divided continent.

munist countries in middle Europe is going to be profound, these sources report. Czechoslovakia and Hungary, both under Communist and Soviet rule, have long borders with Austria.

Austria becomes free for the first time since Hitler's Anschluss annexed the country in 1938. No Austrian under 30 can have much memory of what national independence means. The country becomes, in the middle of Europe, a symbol of hope that foreign domination is not a permanent thing.

AUSTRIA SHOWS WAY

More than that, however, Austria shows the rest of Europe that it is possible to get rid of the Russians. There have been few such instances in the past, and in those instances the Russians move was forced. That happened in northern Iran in 1946, when the Russians withdrew rather than risk a dangerous flareup.

The morale of the resistance to Communism in satellite Europe is bound to rise. Withdrawal of Soviet troops may increase the contacts people in Czechoslovakia and Hungary have with the free world. It will take at least triple the manpower and safeguards for the Russians and Communists of those two countries to seal off their long borders with Austria and the free world.

Khrushchev Heads Belgrade Junket

BELGRADE (Reuters)—Yugoslavia has given firm assurances to the Western Allies that the surprise visit here of top Soviet leaders, announced Friday night, will not impair Yugoslav relations with the West, an authoritative source said today.

The United States, Britain, Turkey, France and Greece—three of whom give economic aid to Yugoslavia, while the other two are linked with her in the Balkan alliance—were given prior information of the announcement.

The source said Yugoslav leaders regard the meeting as a chance to test future Russian intentions much, in the same way as the western powers are making preparations to meet Soviet leaders with a similar objective.

The meeting with Yugoslav President Tito, due before the end of the month, will bring Premier Nikolai Bulganin, Nikita Khrushchev, Communist party chief, and other Kremlin leaders here. It will be the first of its kind since Tito broke with Moscow in 1948 and steered his own anti-Russian but nonetheless Communist path.

Battles Bill McColl At Oak Bay Sunday In B.C. Match Final

Vancouver professional Bill Mawhinney is a slight favorite to win the first B.C. match play Open golf championship.

Mawhinney meets Bill McColl of Royal Colwood for the crown at Victoria Golf Club Sunday over 36 holes. Tee-off times are 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Odds favoring Mawhinney were disclosed today in a check of local clubs, with a healthy interest being shown in the match by the waging fraternity.

From Gorge Vale, secretary Leo Derman reports that most appear to favor Mawhinney, but are willing to take McColl if they can get 3 to 2.

EVEN-MONEY

Professional Phil Taylor of Victoria Club differs with these views however. "Anything can happen in a golf match," he says. "And as far as I'm concerned it's an even-money bet."

Walter Gravlin, professional of Uplands, indicates that although Mawhinney seemingly is the popular choice, "it's anybody's pick."

Colwood members are reported backing their man, McColl, remembering what he did to Hugh Morrison in the Island final, winning that match 8 and 7. But here too it's a case of even money at the best in favor of the Island champion.

But probably the best tip-off on McColl's chances came two weeks ago when, in commenting on McColl's triumph, defeated finalist Hugh Morrison said:

"If McColl plays against Mawhinney like he did against me, Mawhinney will get the early boat home."

Mawhinney checked into the city today and immediately scheduled a practice round at the Oak Bay course. He admitted not having played for the past few days but, in commenting on his victory in the Province match play championship, said that he was well satisfied with his game.

BEAT CRAWFORD

Mawhinney defeated British Columbia amateur champion Lyle Crawford, 4 and 3, in the finals of the Vancouver tournament.

Probably as a result of the form he displayed in that match, Vancouver papers earlier this week intimated that his Mainland backers are prepared to risk "two" to get "one".

Both Mawhinney and McColl were non-committal on the match, except to express the hope that they could be "as fortunate" Sunday as they were in reaching the finals.

Sunday's match is the first of its kind in British Columbia golf history—a meeting of the respective Island and Mainland match-play open champions.

It has been initiated by the Times and will be co-sponsored on alternate years by the Times and Vancouver Daily Province. (See Page 12 for further details.)

Mystery Light Sparks Search By RCAF, RCMP

Mainland Flash Seen by Many at Campbell River

CAMPBELL RIVER—RCMP and RCAF today began an investigation into reports from residents here that a vivid flash of light was seen on a mainland mountainside north of here Friday night.

Observers today placed the location of the still-unidentified light as about 3,000 feet up the side of Estero Mountain, 6,050-foot peak about 35 miles north of here, and between Phillips Arm and Bute Inlet.

Several persons who saw the light, all reliable witnesses, said it was visible between 8.45 and 9 p.m.

SEEN THROUGH GLASSES

Ted Robson, working with the North-west Telephone Company, sighted it through binoculars, but was unable to identify it.

NO PLANES LOST

Mrs. Lloyd Leishmann, chief observer of the GOC here, notified the RCAF filter centre in Vancouver, on the chance that the light might have been a distress signal. She was told, however, that no aircraft had been reported missing.

Air-Sea Rescue was notified by the filter centre, but had no report to make on the mysterious flash. A search plane was reported late today to be continuing a search in the mountainous area.

Grab Sweep Tickets

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Police were holding Cecil W. Maddison 75, today on three charges, following a raid on his home where a stolen pistol and a large number of sweepstake tickets were confiscated.

He was remanded to May 21 when he appeared in police court today on charges of conducting a scheme for disposal of property, disposing of lottery tickets and being in possession of an unregistered firearm.
